FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention.

THE CENTRAL CITY.

Omaha, the Metropolis of Nebraska—The Churches, Residences and Business Interests.

The most imposing of the churches of Omaha is the Episcopal Cathedral, a large gothic building, seating about seven hundred. The interior is beautifully decorated, a really excellent choir, composed of thirty choristers, and a paid auxiliary quartet of ladies and gentlemen, furnish the musical portion of the service, and Dean Gardner, a genial gentleman, provides the requisite amount of preaching. The number of communicants in this church is six hundred. The new and tasteful congregational church is not far off. The auditorium is very handsome, the seats rise in circles, around the pulpit and the choir gallery. The pastor is the well known Doctor Dwryea formerly of Boston, whose eloquent preaching draws overflowing congregations. The music here is furnished by an excellent quartet, in which Nat Brigham, the well known concert tenor used to sing. There are numerous other churches, five Episcopal, of all creeds and denominations, but lack of space prevents me from mentioning them.

The residences of Omaha are unfortunately much scattered. The only way to get a good view of them is to take a carriage and devote an afternoon to them. On Farnam street, a few blocks beyond the court house, is the comfortable mansion of Gen. Thurston, the president of the National League of Republican clubs, and one of the most eloquent orators in America. A little further on is the extensive house of "Bill Paton," the cattle king. On 31st., and Park avenue Judge Dundy's imposing mansion occupies the corner. The well known Judge is one of the many Pennsylvanians who have achieved [illegible] and fortune in the West. The grounds of Senator Manderson, another wealthy and prominent Pennsylvanian, are a few blocks further on. Passing many pleasant places on Park avenue, we came at last to Hanscombe Park, a small pleasure ground, but large enough to contain a fine drive and many secluded nooks. It is the great Sunday resort of the Omahas.

South Tenth street is one of the leading residence avenues. It is lined with many elegant and costly houses. The extensive mansion and grounds of Augustus Kountze, of the well known firm of Kountze Brothers, Bankers, of New York, Omaha and Denver, occupy several blocks. Mr. Augustus Kountze is enormously wealthy, as all the brothers are, and is supposed to be the richest man in Omaha. Brownell Hall, an Episcopal Seminary for young ladies, is a very imposing structure. Its Chapel is especially fine.

On Sixteenth street are many handsome houses. The beautiful grounds of Mr. A J Poppleton, formerly the general attorney of the Union Pacific railroad, attract attention. The residence of Russell Harrison's father in-law is one of the most comfortable old houses, and possesses large and well shaded grounds. Sixteenth street is the favorite drive to Fort Omaha, which is four miles from the city. It is no longer a very important post, and is chiefly valuable for the additions its officers are to Omaha society. The military men and women too are very popular in the city. The brass buttons of the officers are particularly taking with the Omaha belles. Everywhere the jolly and impecunious captains and lieutenants are made welcome.

The High School, which is very imposingly situated on the top of Capitol Hill, once the site of the Territorial capitol, before Nebraska was a state, is the most striking building in the city. Its architectural merits are nil, but its lofty tower and prominent situations make a fine effect. About half a mile West of the High School, is Mr. Gates' beautiful new house, which is justly considered one of the most successful buildings, from an artistic standpoint, in the West. The front is varied by two turrets, connected by a graceful loggia, that is a very unique modification of the universally desired veranda.

When one has seen all these fine mansions, one naturally inquires where the wealth which has built them comes from. The industries of Omaha, although the town can hardly be called a manufacturing city compared with those in the East, are numerous and important. The Smelting Works, down on the flats below the city, are the largest in America. Their capacity is enormous, and they turn out vast quantities of precious metals. The ore is brought generally from Colorado, and the costly product is shipped to all parts of the world. Several large breweries do a thriving business in the city. And an immense distillery annually makes thousands of gallons of "fire water." Almost all the beer and whiskey manufactured in Omaha is shipped into Iowa. This will surprise our prohibition friends, but it is a fact proved by the books of the brewing and distilling companies.

The wholesale trade of Omaha is very large and constantly growing. The city is the distributing point for Nebraska, Southern Dakota, Western Iowa and Northern Kansas. Several large drygoods, grocery, hardware, boot and shoe and hat and cap emporiums each employ as many as a dozen "drummers." The merchants are liberal and enterprising, and certainly deserve credit for the skill and energy they have shown in building up the city's trade. The millionaire Ames of Boston has an immense warehouse in Omaha, occupying an entire block. There are numbers of other lesser structures devoted to the same purpose. Everywhere, throughout the wholesale district of the city, there is manifest a great activity. Evidently the grass is not permitted to grow in the vicinity of an Omaha merchant.

The most interesting industry, to an Easterner, is the huge packing business at South Omaha, three miles from the city proper. In 1887 the site of South Omaha was an unbroken prairie, and in 1888 it was a city of twelve thousand people. Even now hundreds of people are still living in tents and patent portable houses. The increase of population has been so rapid that houses could not be built fast enough to supply the demand. In South Omaha one can see a city in the making. All the stages of municipal development are presented at the same time. The immense packing houses of Armour & Co. and others, and the vast stock yards furnish employment to several thousand workmen. Two of these packing establishments have each a capacity of five thousand hogs a day. They are wonderful places to visit. Butchering has become a science, and in these large slaughter houses it is carried to its highest point of development. The pigs are gathered into a little pen, beneath the place where they are to be killed. A great lever, moving on a rail overhead, has clamps at one end. A man sizes a pig, fastens its hind legs by the clamps to the lever, and pushes it towards the butcher. He gives it one unerring blow with a sort of dirk he carries, the pig ceases to squeal, the block gushes forth in a red flood, and the deed is done. So brutalizing is the effect of this business on the men employed that they are as ready to use their dirks on one another as on the pigs. The companies, therefore, to avoid the risk of disputes among the butchers, have made it an inflexible rule, that they shall not speak, when on duty. They work ten hours a day without saying a word to anybody, and the only noise they hear is the squealing of their victims. Fortunately they receive large wages, six dollars a day, and can afford to endure the terrible monotony of their employment. When the pig is killed it is plunged into a great tank of hot water, taken out, passed on to a man, who cuts off its feet, then through a mechanical scraper, then to a man who takes out the entrails, etc. All the operations are performed with marvellous rapidity, and the pig that you saw killed goes through the building as fast as you can walk, till it is hung up pork in the cool room. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that hog goes into the packing house, and in five minutes a ham sandwich comes out.

THE time has now come when the people of this State are going to have a say as to who shall be our next Governor, and the way they spoke on last Saturday leads us to believe that we know who that person will be.

IMMIGRATION EVILS.

What are we to do? We know how the poor immigrants fare in this land; we know they cannot recieve worse treatment in their own homes; we know that while they do not improve their own condition a particle by coming here they make the condition of the workmen of this country infinitely worse. I am well aware that the worst kind of immigrant is the one who was born and raised here and who goes abroad for awhile, to bring home with him European plans for the enslavement of the masses; but I am also sensible of the fact that his only chance to enslave them is through their ignorance and poverty. The one who profits by the immigration of the present day is the man who is already wealthy enough; the poor are being made poorer through the crowding process, and through the clipping down of their already scanty earnings. The strain is becoming too great, and among the remedies that will be suggested it should not be forgotten that the aliens who are permitted to reside in Europe and own immense tracts of land in the United States are our uncompromising enemies; they find it to their interest to keep on sending shiploads of the poor of Europe in the expectation that the immigrants will drive the American workman to the land which they have to sell. Allow no man to own American soil unless he resides here. Americans who amass wealth in this country and who go to Europe to spend it, and at the same time lay in a stock of monarchical ideas to put into practice when they come home, should pay a heavy export duty when they leave these shores or an import tax on their return. We tax the imported article that is manufactured abroad, but nothing so dangerous to our institutions has ever landed as the American who has learned to be a nabob through shaking the hand that shook royalty across the water.

It is suggested that we should stop immigration, even for a brief period, because it would entail hardship on those who would immigrate. A gentleman suggested one day that for five years we allow no more immigrants to land, and he was asked: "What will the poor fellow do who is on the verge of starvation abroad if you cut off his hope of emigrating?" Without entering into the merits of the proposition, let me ask why any man should starve at home when he can take what he has earned there as well as here. No, they will not starve at home if they stay there; but if pressed to it they will take by the throat those who now rob them of the food they should eat, and if they lack the spirit or intelligence to do that across the water they will be but slaves when they land in this country. I for one prefer that they shake the foundations of every monarchy across the water rather than see the only home in which freedom has a foothold vanish from the face of the political world.

SOME PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

Every immigrant should, on landing, be sworn as to his intentions to become a citizen of the United States, and he should be informed at the same time that at the end of five years he would be required to be able to read the English language and take out full citizenship papers. He should be provided, free of charge, with a copy of the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution of the United States all printed in his own language. His instructions should be to study them so that when he learned to speak English he would know what they meant. Whenever an immigrant refused to comply he should be returned to his own home.

Steamship companies should be held responsible for the good character of the immigrants they land. Not more than 2,000 should be permitted to land in any one week, and they should not be allowed to pass out of the doors of the building at the port of entry until they had fully complied with the law; they should not, as at present, be permitted to remain only long enough in the presence of the inspector to let him smell their tied up clothing. For every nationality that lands there should be an inspector who would speak that tongue, and he should be appointed by the workingman's organizations of this country so that the party in power would not begin making converts the day the immigrants landed.

The suggestion made to the investigating committee on April 16, by Mr. Post, that inspectors should board every vessel at the point from which they sail and mingle with the immigrants is a good one. That plan would work no hardship to the immigrant, and it would give the inspector sufficient time to learn the why and wherefore of every case on board; he could then find out who was responsible for the wholesale shipments of human freight, and steps could be taken to guard against what was not for the best interests of this Nation.

It was thrown at me some four years ago, when I called attention to the swelling tide of immigration, that if my father had been forbidden to land I would to-day be digging turf in Ireland. That may be true, and if I would not be fit for anything better than turf-digging, I hope that I would be able to do that in the highest style of the art; but, in any event, it would be far better to be a turf digger in Ireland than a beggar in America, as are many of the poor who now land in the United States. But the conditions are not the same as they were in 1826, when my father landed. The man who emigrated then must have had a strong heart, he must have been determined to work out his own salvation, and he did not come with the prospect ahead of him of taking some other man's place, or of reducing wages. If the situation to-day could parallel that of 1826 no one would say a word about immigration. At that day we could not get immigrants enough; to-day we have too many, and it is modesty, perhaps, that prevents a majority of our people from expressing the same sentiments that I do on the subject. The class of immigrants that come now are not as good as those of twenty years ago; a new field has been opened up and the production does not equal, in point of moral worth, that of the past generation; one has only to stand at Castle Garden, that used to be, to realize that this is too true.

Granting that those who do land are worthy men and women, if they cannot find work to do they must beg or steal, and in a short time we make criminals of them. Would it not be more merciful to allow only as many to land as can find employment. Our bureaus should be authority on that subject, and ought to show the number of unemployed each year.

The question of immigration is as broad as the universe, and its final solution does not rest with the United States, nor should our field of labor be confined to the United States alone. If our form of government, as it was intended to be, is the right kind, then we should be actively engaged in extending it to all parts of the earth, and with its introduction in the different countries we would find the poor of these lands taking such an interest in their own Governments that they would not care to leave and emigrate to one that did not excel them in any respect.

T. V. POWDERLY.

NO POSTAL TELEGRAPH—THE PRESIDENT AND THE PARTY OPPOSED.

The Washington correspondent of that solid Republican journal, the New York Mail and Express, writes as follows:

"Both the Senate and House Committees have heard the arguments of Postmaster-General Wanamaker, and several bills have been introduced for postal telegraph service by the government, but both the Senate and House Committees are so sharply divided that there is no prospect of an agreement."

This mode of stating the outcome is, on the part of the Mail and Express, an act of great kindness in letting Mr. Wanamaker down gently for his mistakes.

We are sorry that ever since brother Fiedler has had to give his entire time to relieving our postoffice from the "innocuous desuetude," which Cleveland invented for it, his journal has ceased to be Republican. It may now be said to represent the socialists and nihilists in urging the government to the destruction of private property under the cog of monopoly. But the party is sound and true to its principles, which will always be represented by the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN.

Serious Accident at Collins' Stone Quarries.

On Tuesday about noon a large stone fell in Collins' stone quarries, striking two Italians, injuring one seriously, if not fatally, and the other one painfully. Drs. Harris and Dobbins were summoned and rendered the necessary surgical attendance. Dr. Harris give it as his opinion that the one Italian cannot recover as his skull was crushed and part of the bone removed.

WHAT THE PRESS SAYS.

From the Erie Herald.

General Hastings while in Harrisburg yesterday expressed himself full of hope as to his prospects for the Republican nomination for governor. He thinks his canvass is showing decided improvement and laughs at the idea of giving up the fight. J. Eshleman, of Lancaster, a friend of the general's, says his county will go overwhelmingly for Hastings. The primary election will be so decisive in his favor that he hesitates to inform the general because he fears he would not believe the prediction. The result in Blair and the withdrawal of a Delamater candidate for delegate in Chester county, have been very gratifying to General Hastings. In Philadelphia he hopes for great things.

From the Frankford Gazette.

The Hastings boom is assuming the proportions of a larger sized balloon than was, perhaps, intended by some of the leaders. Unless some of the Delamater adherents put a hole in it, it may size up to the proper standard.

From the Titusville Herald.

The friends of Gen. Hastings are taking a wise course in not seeking to disparage other candidates, or making threats to revolt in case their candidate is not preferred. On all public occasions where Hastings and Delamater have met on the same platform or at the same table, they have expressed mutual respect and good will and promised to support the one who was the winner in the race. The committee of 100 formed in Philadelphia in General Hastings' interest, are influenced by the same spirit of concession and forbearance, or submission gracefully to the verdict of the convention, now two months off. The Philadelphia Telegraph says:

If they find out that he is not so strong as they suppose him to be they will be ready to bow to the will of the majority. They feel that they now have full opportunity within the party lines to make an appeal to the people and they intend to abide cheerfully by the result if it should not be in their favor. None of the participators in this movement entertains any thought of setting up a "revolt" or scratching the ticket if he should find that the party does not prefer his candidate. They will all be just as ready to labor for the success of the party if any other candidate, provided he be a good man and provided the convention be fairly organized, should carry off the prize.

For these reasons the Hastings movement is to be regarded as a wholesome sign. It shows that there is a spirit of good will and confidence in the air when an agitation of this kind is to be conducted within the party, to which such agitations should always be confined. A committee of one hundred inside the party may be of more practical goed than a committee of one hundred on the outside. In any event, it is a welcome sign of the determination of Republicans this year to settle their difference of opinion among themselves, and not to nurse their bad blood as they did when they had similiar difference eight years ago.

From the Lancaster NEWS.

Above the bustle of politicians yesterday the music of the Iroquois band was heard. It quickly became noised about that Adjutant General Hastings was in town, and would hold an informal reception at the club rooms of "The Young Republicans." The General was then at the Hamilton Club where he was being entertained by Colonel B. Frank Eshleman and a number of other gentlemen.

General Hastings accompanied by Colonel Eshlemen started to walk to the rooms where the reception was to be held. The band was on the street in front of the club rooms playing when the General entered, it was then about two o'clock, and a number of persons having heard that the General would be three had gathered in the room and at once the hand shaking began. Colonel Eshleman at first did all the introducing, but soon there were others there who helped to receive.

The inflow of people who were anxious to see the distinguished visitor was constant for about two hours. The band took up its position in the billiard room, and soon the large reception room was filled with men from the city and all parts of the county. E K Martin, Lancaster county's candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, was noticed in pleasant conversation with the Centre county man. The General had a smile and hearty hand shake for each person as he was presented.

A reporter of the Morning News who chafed with General Hastings learned from him that his visit to Lancaster was as much of a surprise to him as it was to the people. He said that he had gotten to Harrisburg at 4:45 in the morning and found there a telegram the committee of one hundred business men of Philadelphia, who are managing his campaign in that city, asking him to come to that city to address a meeting this evening. He started on the Seashore Express for Philadelphia and was met at the station in this city by Colonel Eshleman, whom he had telegraphed to join him. A stop-off was not anticipated, but Mr. Eshleman insisted upon it and literally pulled him off the cars.

Among the persons whom he met yesterday afternoon were a number of school teachers. When he learned that they were teachers, the General said that he was doubly glad to meet them, as he had been a teacher himself in his time, having taught his first school when a boy of thirteen years.

About four o'clock he left the rooms in company with Colonel Eshleman, and at 4:45 left on Day Express for Philadelphia to fill his appointment there.

Secretary of the Commonwealth Stone who is also a candidate for the Republican Gubernatorial nomination, dropped into the city during the day, but so quiet was his coming that very few persons were aware of his presence here. He arrived on the Atlantic Express 11:35, and met a number of friends in an informal way. The ex-Lieutenant Governor has numerous friends here, but when he learned of Adjutant General Hastings' presence modestly declined to figure as a counter attraction and resumed his journey eastward at 2 o'clock.

THE PRESIDENT SUSTAINING THE VIEWS OF THE "BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN" ON POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

It is said to be declared that the Wanamaker scheme is already practically disposed of. It is known that President Harrison some time ago served notice on Wanamaker that the muchexploited postal telegraph scheme had very bad political bearings, and the Postmaster General was virtually notified that he must cease his aggressiveness against Mr. Gould's Western Union Company—in view of favors received in 1888 and expected in 1892. From that time Mr. Wanamaker has been going very slow. His Postal Telegraph bill reposes calmly in a Congressional committee, and according to this report now made (after careful investigation,) there isn't the slightest probability that it can be resurrected at this session of Congress.

The maker of this report says that he made a close canvass of the views of members of Congress, and he finds, he says, that even if the committee were to report in favor of it at once, it could never pass. According to the reports, there is a majority of not less than ten votes in the House against the Wanamaker scheme—a scheme, by the bye, which isn't quite so much Mr. Wanamaker's as it seemed to be a little while ago, before the Postmaster General and his worthy chief, the President, swapped some confidences about the value of Jay Gould's friendship and came to an understanding.

Table Talk.

The May number of Table Talk has reached our table with a freshness and brightness that betokens the coming of the May month. It opens with a poem entitled the "First of May," then follow "New Menus for May," "Over the Breakfast Cups," "Fashionable Luncheon and Tea Toilets," "Housekeepers' Inquiries," which interest every housekeeper; "Dining Here and There," "The Fare of Fair Los Angeles," a poem that will give one the California fever to read it. An instructive article on "Gas Stoves for Cooking Purposes," by Mrs. Rorer; "May Memories," "All Around the House" "Up-Stairs and Down-Stairs in House-Cleaning Days," "Fashionable Crazes," "Capricious Washington," "What is Best for Children," "May Foster's Pretty Guest Chamber," and other articles, will give a hint of what this excellent household magazine has for its readers. $1.00 per year, 10 cents a copy. Published by Table Talk Publishing Co., 1602, Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

THERE are some people who aspire to the nomination for certain county offices that are bound to get left.

Poetry.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone;
For this brave old earth
Must borrow its mirth,
It has troubles enough of its own.

Sing, and the hills will answer;
Sigh, and 'tis lost on the air;
The echoes rebound
To a joyful sound,
But shrink from voicing care.

Rejoice, and men will seek you;
Grieve, and they will turn and go;
They want full measure,
Of all your pleasure,
But they do not want your woe.

Be glad, and your friends are many;
Be sad, and you lose them all;
There are none to decline
Your nectared wine,
But alone you must drink life's gall.

Feast, and your halls are crowded;
Fast, and the world goes by;
Succeed and give,
And it helps you live,
But it cannot help you die.

There is room in the halls of pleasure
For a long and lordly train;
But one by one
We must all file on
Through the narrow aisles of pain.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

New Materials; Styles in Making; Millinery; Notes and Answers.

Satines for morning wear are fashionable as ever this season, white embroidery in Vandyke patterns being the most stylish combination, although velvet is employed and sometimes both velvet and embroidery in the same costume. Ginghams are similarly touched up, although in the latter, very small checks may take the place of velvet or embroidery and as the season opens, new gingham costumes are made entirely in large plaids. Genuine classic draping is a noticeable introduction where soft, clinging materials such as crepes, veilings and light silks are used, gowns of this character however being as yet reserved for indoors. India silks are in lovely floral patterns and Japanese wash silks constitute charming wear for warm weather since the delicate stripes are especially cool looking.

FLORAL PATTERNS

On a ground work of self colored stripes are a marked feature in new fabrics and appear not only in silks of heavy quality, but in grenadines, India silks and crepes. The latter are extremely pretty and suited to youthful wearers, will be conspicuous at summer resorts. Black grenadines are appropriate to young matrons and a charming gown worn lately by the Duchess of Marlborough, showed sprays of pink rose buds on a surface of narrow black stripes. Colored crape is also a favorite material in evening dresses and may form a third material in costumes either of light fabric or where plain and brocaded silks are put together, a new dress recently ordered by Mrs. Cleveland, being trimmed with long draperies of pale blue crape caught by black passementerie in half moons, and attached by a long buckle in front. Buckles indeed are worn to an unprecedented extent and used as may seem convenient for skirts or corsages, come in all manner of shapes and sizes, the larger, being six or eight inches long. Black as a combination is also in very remarkable prominence and cannot be misplaced either in dress or

MILLINERY.

Shade hats are rendered novel by the cutting away of crowns and substitution of puffed velvet with a small circle of the original straw crown placed in the centre. This is only one of many efforts made for peculiarity of effect and the introduction of orchids in flower is another result of the desire for what is unique. Modes of trimming likewise, often attain the bizarre, since flowers that seem flung by accident on the hat of broad brim turned every way, are united in most fanciful fashion with double faced velvet bows that flare in pronounced contrasts of color. Double faced ribbon is in truth very fashionable and the prevalence of velvet, whether on the bias, in ribbon, or in flowers, is unprecedented for warm weather.

NOTES AND ANSWERING.

Tan or gray shoes still match gloves of similar shades and fancy varieties are endless. Black however is in far better taste and may be ornamented by buckles or embroidery. Toes are sharp pointed and heels high, but neither are essential and in answer to inquiry regarding a good dressing, the reply is emphatically in favor of Button's Raven Gloss which imparts a soft, natural finish where other dressings harden and crack the leather. Though dealers are sometimes inclined from interested motives, to substitute some other article, the preservative qualities of Raven Gloss should recommend it to all ladies who have a proper regard for the durability of their foot wear.

Yoke bodices are very popular for young ladies and charming effects are produced by narrow velvet or ribbon run through insertion. In other yokes, embroidery alternates with hemstitching and others again show dots or sprays embroidered on thick or thin foundations.

"Ella R." The new arched Moresque parasol is very stylish, showing the ribs slightly curved downward at the tips and the cover turning a little upwards, with a finish of fringe. The jocky parasol has a unique appearance by reason of twelve gores every third one narrower than the others. A great improvement this year, is a screw joint in the handle by which parasols can be taken apart for packing. Handles and ferules however are somewhat shorter than last year and are in both light and dark woods.

VERONA CLARKE.

A Munchausen-like tale is reported to-day. Nobody will believe it. A young man has eloped with his mother-in-law. Nothing more dreadful than this has been recorded since Ninon de l'Enclos's grandson fell madly in love with her. Nobody will believe the tale; at least, no married man.

The aunt of a naughty school boy threw ink at her nephew's teacher. Somehow, our sympathy is with that teacher.

The avoidance of a conflict of games begun by the National League club, if continued throughout the season, would put money in purse of both base ball associations. Indeed, it is about the only measure that would permit two rival clubs in this vicinity to do business profitably.

As was suspected, the yarn that Jno. M. Clayton was assassinated by a man who is now dead is "fishy." The widow of the accused says that when Clayton was killed her husband was sick at home in Morriston, Ark., and her statement is corroborated by the family physician. The Arkansas Bourbons will have to invent a better device to shield the assassins.

A widow, lamenting at the tomb of her spouse, who had been very irregular in his habits—'Poor man; I at least know now where he spends his nights."

Boarder—"Madam, we want hot meals or we'll move." Landlady—'Hot meals!" Why haven't you got pepper, and catchup, and horseradish, and raw onions and mustard! What more do you folks expect?"

When the bartender of the speakeasy raided yesterday caught sight of the raiding officers, he grabbed all the money back of the bar and rammed it into his pockets. The laugh is on the police officers.

Hungry Guest—What have you got to eat?

New Waiter—We have some fine fresh fish.

Is it ready?

Oh, yes, it was cooked day before yesterday.

Doctor (to his wealthy patient's cook) You are the chef, I believe?

Chef—Qui, monsieur.

Doctor—You are a great assistance to the medical profession, and I for one must thank you. As we say in France, Je vous remercie beau oup.

He was just in from Guthrie, and was telling of the settlement of the new country.

Have they got the landmarks pretty well up? he was asked.

Oh, yes, he replied; but we have had to use some powder and shot.

Your right ear seems to have lost a piece of flesh.

Yes, that's one of the landmarks.

A habitual fault finder, being at a ball says to the director—This is an outrage, sir! You deceive the public.

How so?

You advertise fifteen musicians.

Well?

Well. I've counted them, and there are seventeen!

Occupant af the Parquet (of Philadelphia)—Encore! Encore!

Chorus of Ushers—Shut up, you blamed idiot! This is the death scene!

Occupant of Parquet—Oh, come off! Don't you s'pose I appreciate the fine points?

Little Delaware, at least that part of it near Georgetown, did not attend a base ball game on Saturday like a large part of the rest of the country did. It watched the Sheriff whip three horse-thieves. The development of a base ball craze at Georgetown would be in the interest of civilization.

Editor—How's this for cool gall! You know Brown is always saying that poetry is a gift?

Subber—Well?

Editor—He writes to know why I don't send him a check for his last piece of verse!

Newwed—Did you ever give your wife any jewelry?

Oldwed—I gave her a piece once, and I regretted it ever since.

Newwed—What was it?

Oldwed—A wedding ring.

Darling, he said, as he kissed the tip of her pretty little pink fingers, why are you like the art practised by all the prestidigitators?

I don't know, she redlied, shuddering slightly, why am I?

Because, precious, you are slight of hand.

Is it you who's been eatin' these er dates? asked a groceryman of a new clerk. I see the pits on the floor.

No, boss, was the ingenious reply, cos I alius swaller mine.

THEY MEAN BUSINESS.

Philadelphia's Committee of One Hundred Speaks.

Following is the business men's, of Philadelphia, circular in support of Gen. Hastings that is now being sent out through the State:

Philadephia, April 28, 1890.

To the Republican voters of Penn'a.

We beg leave fraternally to call your attention to the importance of electing delegates to the next Republican State Convention, to be held at Harrisburg, June 25th, in favor of Gen. Hastings as our candidate for Governor. In doing so we do not in the least desire to underrate the high character and political merits of any other candidate. The most thoughtful men of our party have not failed to discern that the tide of popular support which carried Benj. Harrison into the Presidential chair has been ebbing since the last election, and many strongholds of the Republican party have been captured and some States hitherto Republican have gone Democratic. It does not belong to us to speculate upon causes, for they may be removed, but the same influence prevails in Pennsylvania as in other States and being timely warned we should omit no effort to keep Pennsylvania in the Republican column. To do this we feel that a proper regard should be paid to the overwhelming demand which comes from all parts of the State for Gen. Hastings. In the city of Philadelphia the feeling is almost unanimous that he should be nominated, so strong is this sentiment, that on the 22d day of April, 1890, an assemblage of business men gathered at the Continental Hotel and adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, The next election for Governor of Pennsylvania is fraught with important results to our State and nation, and

Whereas, The best Republicanism is that which is guided and controlled by an intelligent public opinion, now, then, be it

Resolved. By the business men of Philadelphia here assembled, that we do most earnestly recommend to the next Republican State Convention the name of Col. D. H. Hastings as the candidate of our party for Governor of this State.

The demand for this nomination is based on the fact that he is the undoubted choice of nine-tenths of the Republicans of Pennsylvania, who believe he possesses every qualification necessary to a triumphant success. Manly, courageous, self-sacrificing, and intelligent, he has already, by his advocacy of Republican principles rendered incalculable services to the country, while his conspicuous humanity and modesty have endeared him to our entire people.

Resolved, That the chairman of this meeting appoint a committee of one hundred citizens to take charge of this movement in favor of Gen. Hastings, and to use all honorable and legitimate means to insure his success.

Gen. Hastings was born in Clinton, county, in 1849, and is therefore in the prime of life; and the head of the National guard of our State, a lawyer of high standing, a man of the most dauntless courage and spotless integrity, he has stamped his individuality upon the politics of our State and Nation by his able advocacy of Republican principles, while his private and public virtues have endeared him to the entire people.

Will you not therefore give practical effect to the wishes of your people, which we know are similar to ours, and do everything which lies in your power to promote his success. We are confident that the Democratic party will make a most determined effort to carry Pennsylvania this fall, as a preparatory movement to the next Presidential election. Already the indications point to a complete reconciliation between hitherto warring factions. It is apparent to all observers that Gen. Hasting would inspire less opposition than any other candidate whom we could name, not because the other gentlemen seeking the nomination are not worthy to receive full Republican support, but simply because we believe they cannot receive it. The Republicans of Pennsylvania therefore ought not to take doubtful chances against assured success. Hoping you will agree with us, we remain,

Yours truly,

JOHN LAWSON, Chairman.

Three Stylish Spring Bonnets.

Pale blue and black is the favorite combination in hats and bonnets of the latest importation: here are three of them:—

A wide-brimmed hat of shirred lace, turned up at the back with an exquisite bow of pale blue gros-grain ribbon, in the centre of which is a tiny bow of black velvet ribbon, drooping from this, all over the crown are bunches of pale blue sweet peas, with black velvet bow on the brim in front,

A Marie Stuart capote is of black braid with fine wreath of pale forget-me-nots under the edge all around; a pert-looking bow of pale blue gros-grain ribbon, stands on on eside of the poi d front; there is a smaller bow or knot of ribbon at the back, from which depend the long ties of blue ribbon.

The Forum for May.

The May number of The Forum contains "Republican Promise and Performance," by Ex-Speaker Carlisle, who writes a reply to Senator Dawes's review of the present administration; "Canada through English Eyes," by Prof. Goldwin Smith, which is a criticism of a portion of Sir Charles Dilke's book on "Problems of Great Britain;" "The Sufficiency of the New Amendments," by Gen. Roger A. Pryor, which is an answer to Judge Tourgee's argument that the Negro might be disfranchised in spite of the post-bulletin amendments to the constitution; "Literary Criticism," by Archdeacon F W Farrar, a review of notable mistakes that have been made by critics about great pieces of literature; "Government by Rum sellers," by the Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby, who shows the controlling power in politics, especially in New York City, and points out the remedy; "When the Farmer will be Prosperous," by C. W. Davis, a calculation to show that the home consumption of food products will soon catch up with the utmost production of the country. The May Forum is now at all news stands. A Stanley Book Worthy the Name.

One of the most entertaining books published for many day is "Heroes of The Dark Continent" and Complete Picturesque Africa, embracing the history of Africa and its people for more than one thousand years, illustrated with 500 scenes, colored plates, and numerous maps. Also, including the complete life of Henry M. Stanley and all his famous explorations and discoveries, including his last and grandest expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha. The entire work is issued in one large and beautiful volume of 576 quarto pages, equal to 1,200 octavo pages, at the low price of only $3.00. The book is having an enormous circulation, over 200,000 copies having been sold the first seven weeks. It appears to be making a profound impression upon the Christian world, judging by the hearty encomiums bestowed upon it by the editor of the Canada Methodist, and other distinguished persons. The publishers are responsible and well-reported by the Commercial Agencies of Dun and Bradstreet. This is evidently an unusually favorable opportunity for persons desiring a rapidly paying agency. See advertisement in another column.

Tramp—'Ah, madam, when you say 'pie' you strike a responsive chord in my heart that—' Lady—(interrupting) —'Very well, and now you can proceed to strike another responsive cord in the wood-shed yonder.'

Croaker—'Madam. I suggest that you send this chicken pie to the United States navy.' Mrs Coldham—'For mercy's sake, what would the navy do with it?' Croaker—'Well, it might come in handy to 'repel boarders,' you know.'

Old Mr. Singleton—Now, remember, my boy, don't let that young wife of yours get the upper hand. "Just as soon as a woman can manage a man she begins to despise him," you know.

Young Mr. Doubloon (wearily)—Y-e-e-s, I know; but just as soon as a woman finds she can't manage a man she begins to make it hot for him.

Voice from speaking tube.—Help! H-e-l-p! I've caught a man in my room. Oh, what shall I do?

Clerk (to himself) —That's that funny old maid in 49.

Clerk (through the tube)—Lock the door, you'll never have the chance to catch another.

Piles! Piles! Piles!

Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old chronic cases of long standing.

Judge Coons, Maysville, Ky., says: "Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr William's Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c. & $1 per box. ap4-1y

Amy—Well, Susie is engaged to Mr. Giagget, at last.

Mabel—Yes, she fairly coaxed him to propose, too.

Amy—That's just like her. In the literary society debates at school she was always begging the question.

Fadman—I tell you religious persecution in this country's getting to be something awful!

Freakleigh—Why, what do you mean?

Fadman—Here's a long account of a woman arrested in a Broadway millinery store for "taking the veil!"

COOPER'S COLOSSAL SHOW.

Those who delight in the sensational and realistic will have much to enthuse over in Mr. Cooper's presentation of Adam Forepaugh's historical "Wild West" exhibition, with its daring scouts, crack shots, rollicking cowboys, bucking bronches, buffalo, elk, and other denizens of the plains and mountains. Capt. A H Bogardus, famous the world over as a scout and dead shot, impersonates the lamented General Custer in a startling and vivid reproduction of Custer's Last Rally," which is now given in the same complete form that characterized its production in New York City, under Mr. Forepaugh's management, where it ran 153 nights with unexampled success. Many of the Indians who participate in the grand military spectacle were actually engaged in the battle on the Little Big Horn. A new spectacle for this year, Sheridan's Ride from Winchester, never before seen under canvas.

The marvelous power that Adam Forepaugh, Jr., exercises over the lower animals has a striking illustration in two features introduced to the public for the first time this season—his intrepid and exciting 40-horse act, and his trapez-leaping pony, "Eclipse,"—and which have created a furore wherever the show has appeared. Scarcely less wonderful are said to be the performances of the young trainer's great herd of elephants, who dance, march form pyramids, and, in fact, do everything that any human being can do except talk. The "circus proper" given in two rings and on a big central stage, is said to fairly blaze with novel and meteoric attractions and the hipodrome races possess all the stirring realism of the race track scenes at Saratoga and Long Branch.

Everybody will want to see Adam Forepaugh's big show on the glass works meadows at Bellefonte Saturday, May 24.

Another Centre County Young Man Married.

Thursday's Tyrone Herald says: 'At half-past seven o'clock last evening, the solemn words were spoken which united in marriage Melville B Lever and Miss Bertha M Gray, both of Tyrone. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Annie E Gray, on Washington avenue, and was performed by the venerable Rev. George Guyer, who officiated at the marriage of Mr. Lever's parents many years ago. Only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The young couple whose lives are now wedded together, were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

Mr. Lever the groom is an excellent young man who is thoroughly qualified to fulfill the duties which he has assumed. He is the son of J. H. Lever, a promineat citizen of Stormstown, and is employed at the P. R. R. freight depot at this place. The bride is one of Tyrone's most estimable young ladies who will bear gracefully her share of the joys and sorrows—may the latter be few—of wedded life. The happy young couple left on Philadelphia Express for a honeymoon trip, during which they will enjoy the sights in the eastern cities and will also visit friends in Bucks county. On their return in a week or ten days, they will at once prepare to take up housekeeping in Tyrone."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Grand Jury Report

To the Honorable A. O. Furst, and his Associate Judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions, Oyer and Terminer of Centre county.

The Grand Inquest inquiring in and for the said county would respectfully report; That, having disposed of the cases submitted by the District Attorney for their consideration, consisting of twelve different bills—eight of which were found true bills, and so reported, and the remaining four ignored—they then visited and examined the public buildings of the county and find them in fair condition.

The jail is neatly kept but the grand jury would suggest, for a more perfect preservation of the property, that some little repairs be made, viz: painting of the front doors, examination of the roof and cornice immediately over front entrance, and, perhaps, some attention may be necessary to the drainage, especially in cell No. 3. The court house and the various offices are in good condition. The clerks of both Commissioners, Register and Recorder's offices say there is not sufficient space in the vaults for convenience.

DR. WARNER'S celebrated Coraline Health Corsets have one peculiarity which pertains only to corsets of their make. The bust retains its shape to the end, and the corset imparts to the wearer a well-proportioned and beautiful figure. The corset is boned with Coraline, a substance superior to the finest whalebone. Made in short, medium and extra long waists.

There are many imitations, but you will find "Dr. Warner's Coraline" printed on the inside of every genuine corset. They are sold by your nearest dry goods dealer.

WASHINGTON EVENTS.

The Funeral Services Over Senator Beck's Remains.

A VERY SIMPLE CEREMONY.

And Then the Body Is Borne to Its Final Resting Place—Speculation in Army Circles Over the New Signal Corps Personnel.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Shortly after 10 o'clock Tuesday morning the remains of Senator James Burnie Beck, accompanied by the congressional committee, arrived at Capitol. The carriages drew up at the foot of the marble stairway at the east front of the building. The members of the committee arranged themselves on either side of the steps. The casket was then taken from the hearse and carried by eight of the Capitol police to the Marble room, preceded by the committee, headed by Senators Blackburn and Evarts.

The casket was placed in the center of the Marble room and the committee retired, leaving the active pall bearers to act as the guard of honor. The casket was then opened, and the doors of the Marble room were thrown open to the public for an hour and a half.

The Simple Services.

In the senate chamber at eight minutes past 1 o'clock the funeral procession was announced by a single tap of the presiding officer's gavel; the assemblage arose and remained standing as they entered. Dr. Butler and Dr. Bullock preceded the cortege, the honorary pall bearers following, then eight Capitol policemen followed, bearing the casket, behind which walked Maj. and Mrs. Goodloe and friends of the family. The casket was placed in front of the presiding officer's desk. At the sound of the gavel the assemblage was seated, Dr. Bullock read the ninetieth Psalm, which he followed with a brief prayer.

Dr. Butler then read from the fifteenth chapter of I Corinthians. The reading was followed by prayer. At the conclusion of the prayer the funeral cortege again formed and at 1:30 left the senate chamber in the order in which it had entered. The president and his cabinet followed immediately, then the supreme court justices, the members of the diplomatic corps and the members of the house of representatives. These simple services concluded, the body was borne to its final resting place.

The New Signal Corps.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—There is considerable speculation in army circles as to how the personnel of the signal corps will be made up in the event of the passage of the bill pending in the house for the transfer of the weather bureau to the agricultural department. The bill provides that the reorganized signal corps shall consist of the chief signal officer, one major, four captains, mounted; four first lieutenants, mounted, and fifty sergeants. The commissioned offices are to be filled by appointment from the army, including the signal corps, preference being given to officers who have performed long and efficient service in the signal service.

There are naturally a large number of officers who are anxious to go into the new corps. The second lieutenants of the present signal corps are as a rule displeased with the feature of the bill that throws open the doors to the whole army, and some of them think the new offices ought to have been filled by promotions from the present corps.

The Bill Criticised.

The bill has been criticised on account of the alleged unnecessary number of officers and non-commissioned officers provided for, but it is pointed out that at least forty officers and sergeants will be required to take charge of the military telegraph lines now in existence, and in view of the growing importance of signaling and field telegraphy of various kinds nearly the entire remaining force of officers and sergeants will be needed as instructors at the military schools at West Point, Fortress Monroe, Fort Leavenworth and Fort Riley.

Banker Morgan Buried.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 7.—The funeral of the late Junius S. Morgan took place at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon from Christ church. The services were conducted by Bishop Williams, of Connecticut; Rev. Dr. Rainesford, of New York, and Rev. Floyd Tompkins, of Hartford, assisted by President Smith and Rev. Dr. Pynchoon, of Trinity college. The bearers were Roland Mather, of Hartford; Levi P. Morton, A. J. Drexel, Chauncey M. Depew and Cornelius Vanderbilt, of New York; J. C. Rogers, of Boston; J. Kearney Warren, of Washington, and Professor E. J. Phelps, of New Haven. The interment was in the family lot in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Both Engines Wrecked.

ELMIRA, N. Y., May 7.—Train No. 28 of the Lehigh Valley railroad ran into an Erie gravel train at Painted Post, Tuesday morning, and wrecked both engines. Engineer Diedrich and Fireman Styer, of the Lehigh train, were injured. Four passengers were slightly bruised. Superintendent Stephenson, of the Lehigh Valley road, was cut about the head and otherwise injured. The tracks were blocked for four hours.

The Advertiser Mulcted.

BOSTON, May 7.—The jury in the libel suit brought by Broker James Burt, of New York, against The Boston Advertiser, wherein the plaintiff sought to recover $25,000, Tuesday morning brought in a verdict of $12,500 for the plaintiff.

Six Were Shot.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 7.—In a general row among the negroes at Champion mines six were shot. John Alexander is dead and Bill Richards and Joe Thompson are fatally wounded. Pistols, clubs and stones were used freely.

THE BASEBALL ARENA.

The result of the various championship games was as follows:

Lost Twelve Pounds So Far.

LAMAR, Colo., May 7.—J. S. Harriman, who is trying to walk from Wabash, Ind., to San Francisco within sixty-five days, on a wager of $10,000, arrived here at 7 o'clock Monday evening. He is now 1,498 miles from the starting point and 320 miles ahead of schedule time. He is looking well and shows no appearance of fatigue, although he has lost twelve pounds in flesh since he started.

The Mississippi Still Rising.

NEW ORLEANS, May 7.—Dispatches from Briesley Landing, Plaquemine, St. Mary's, Morgan City and other points report the overflow water rising everywhere between the Mississippi river and Bayou Teche. There is but little hope for improvement in this section until the flood now coming down the river has run out. Maj. Richardson, chief engineer, is apprehensive of the consequence if the predicted rise of two feet at Shreveport should occur. He states that if the two feet additional rise comes the water will pour over the levees.

Attorney Miles Was Lynched,

WICHITA, Kan., May 7.—C. M. Miles, the attorney who killed Dr. Pritchard at Coldwater last Wednesday night, was captured ten miles south of the state line, on the Cimarron river. Miles refused to surrender to the capturing party of fifteen men. They fired on him and wounded him in both legs, when he gave up. A courier was sent back to Coldwater with the news. The courier denies knowing anything about a lynching, but no one familiar with the case doubts that Miles was lynched after his capture.

More Boodle Aldermen.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 7.—The Leader makes startling charges against the management of the city finances by the present board of aldermen. It will present specific charges in at least four cases, where $5,312.25 have been paid on warrants issued by the council. This money, it is charged, was divided equally among Aldermen Laird, Shope, Reynolds, Sheldon, Drady, Smith, Hamner and Morris. The grand jury meets today and will probably investigate the case.

They Surprised the Preacher.

On Friday evening, May 2, about seventy-five persons gathered at the home of Rev. G. W. Emenhizer, at Coleville, and gave him, in addition to a good sound and wholesome surprise, a good sound remembrance in the shape of a wholesome donation of many good things to the value of fifty dollars or more. A nice suit of clothes was among the many things given and this was presented, on behalf of the donors, by Rev. J. L. Roote, a local preacher, who accompanied the presentation with a nice little speech.

The surprise was the more enjoyed by the pastor and his family because it was the former's birthday. The good man had called a meeting for that evening to organize a Christian Endeavor society among the young people, but was very much worried, as well as surprised at the want of interest taken. There were very few present and they all seemed to have some very important business to attend to about 8 o'clock. The pastor could not understand this lack of interest until his home was invaded about a half hour afterwards then all was made plain. The friends that took part in the donation were not members of the United Brethren alone, but, were of all denominations. The pastor and family extend their heartfelt thanks for this generous remembrance.

Is Consumption Incurable?

Read the following: Mr. C. H. Morris, Newark, Ark., says: "Was down with Abcess of Lungs, and friends and physicians pronounced me an Incurable Consumptive. Began taking Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, am now on my third bottle, and able to oversee the work on my farm. It is the finest medicine ever made."

Jesse Middlewart, Decator, Ohio, says "Had it not been for Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption I would have died of Lung Troubles. Was given up by doctors. Am now in best of health." Try it. Sample bottles free at W. C. Keplinger & Co's drug store.

Pianos-Organs.

The improved method of fastening strings of Pianos, invented by us, is one of the most important improvements ever made, making the instrument more richly musical in tone, more durable, and less liable to get out of tune.

Both the Mason & Hamlin Organs and Pianos excel chiefly in that which is the chief excellence in any musical instrument, quality of tone. Other things, though important, are much less so than this. An instrument with unmusical tones cannot be good. Illustrated catalogues of new styles, introduced this season, sent free.

BONNER.

All persons interested in improving the blood of their horses should call at the Brockerhoff House stables and see the trottingbred horse Bonner His proprietors intend to have him kept for service. The pedigree of this horse as authentically traced is as follows:

The sire of Bonner was by Knickerbocker, whose sire was Rysdeckes Hambletonian, and the dam of Bonner's sire was by Messenger. The dam of Bonner was a Vermont Morgan whose dam was a Starr mare.

These horses are all world renowned as every intelligent horseman knows. The dam of Bonner trotted in 2.40 at the age of 22 years.

This horse has always been kept for service. However after one week's training upon the track, at Lewisburg he trotted in 2.58 and competent judges declare that if properly handled he would be trotting in the teens.

Bonner is a mahogony bay, will be 9 years old in May, and weighs 1000 lbs. He has bred colts that weigh 1400 lbs. and he has lighter offspring that are very promising for roading and for speed. f-20-3m

'STARTLE'

The proprietors of Bonner have also purchased Startle.

Startle is a light colored chestnut bay; he will be 5 years old in May and is sired by Bonner. His dam was a dark chestnut sorrel by Gold Dust, and his grand dam was of the Justin Morgan stock of horses.

Startle will also be kept for service and can be seen at the Brockerhoff House stables.

TERMS OF SEVICE.

Single service $8 cash in advance.

Season service without, insurance $15 cash.

To insure mare with foal $25 payable as soon as mare is known to be with foal.

A FITTING TRIBUTE.

In Memory of James B. Curtin—Sketch of His Life.

James Barnhart Curtin, eldest son of John and Julia A. Barnhart Curtin, was born at Martha Furnace, Centre county, on August 20th, 1840, and died at Eagle Iron Works (Curtin's) on May 5th, 1890, aged 49 years, 8 months and 15 days.

Receiving a fair common school education in the schools of Huston and Boggs townships he was, about the year 1856 or '57, sent to Williamsport Dickinson Seminary, then having for its principal or President Rev. Thomas Bowman, (now Senior Bishop of the Methodist church.) Remaining there until about the time of the opening of the Farmer's High School, (now Pennsylvania State College,) he became one of the first students of that institution, remaining there until he finished his course of schooling.

The sound of the first guns of the war called out the Eagle Guards, a volunteer military company then in existence in Bald Eagle Valley, and under the command of Captain A. B. Snyder. It marched April 19th, 1861, as Company H, 4th Reg't, P. V., for the seat of war, James B. served as a private in that Company, and in that three months campaign began the disease that terminated on Monday in his death. He returned with the Company July 20th, 1861, but sickness prevented him from again entering until November 30, 1861, at which time he, as a private, joined the "Anderson Body Guards," known afterward as the "Anderson Troop," a Company raised especially for the service of Gen. Anderson, the hero of Fort Sumpter, who was then in command of troops in Kentucky and Tennessee. With this one Company as nucleus, a regiment was recruited and it became the 160th Regt, P. V., or 15th Cavalry. Very many of the officers of the new regiment were taken from the old company and James B, Curti s, on the 10th of October, 1862, made First Lieutenant of Company L. of the Regt., remaining as such until February 27th, 1863, when he resigned on account of ill health. In the spring of 1863 he became a clerk in the quartermaster's department of the 8th Army Corps, remaining as such in the Kentucky, Mississippi and Tennessee campaigns. In January, 1864, he returned home and soon after in 1864, was made First Lieutenant of Company I, 20th P. V. Cavalry, and most of the time, before his discharge, acted as quartermaster of the regiment.

Soon after the close of the war he began business in the store room at Curtin's and in 1874 made one of the firm, of C. Curtin & Co., iron manufacturers, which in 1877 changed to Curtin & Co. —Constans Curtin retiring from the firm.

In May, 1876, he was united in marriage with Miss Virginia Holter, daughter of the late John Holter, his wife and the children are left to mourn their loss. Three children preceeded him to the "goodly land," Mr. Curtin was a very quiet, reserved man; a good citizen, a good man. Though not a member of the church, yet he took quite an interest in church matters. When the old Bald Eagle chapel was rebuilt in 1875 he gave time and money to the construction of it; and during the past winter, when it was repaired, his interest in the work—though in very bad health—seemed to be untiring. When his last days were here he expressed himself that he had no fear of his acceptance with the Saviour—he believed and fully trusted in him. His regret, and only regret, was to leave his dear wife, and loving and loved little family. "Peace to his Ashes."

Two Items from Philipsburg.

Mr. Fletcher Payne, of Lemont, who is well and favorably known to Philipsburg people, is a candidate for the nomination for Recorder, on the Republican ticket. Our acquaintance with Mr. Payne, dates back about twenty years, and in all that time we have never known him to be but a good, honest, industrious, straightforward young man He is a staunch Republican, well fitted for the position, and we see no reason why he should not have the nomination. Philipsburg ought to give him her delegates, because he lived in the town for several years when he was a boy, and comes here so often that he really almost belongs here yet. Give Fletcher the Philipsburg delegates.

Miss Mary Bradley of Bellefonte, is visiting her friend Miss Mary Pifer in town. Miss Bradley is an accomplished musician both vocal and instrumental. On Wednesday evening Miss Pifer gave a little musicale which was very entertaining. Miss Bradley sang some beautiful selections, and our own leading soprano vocalists, Misses Carrie Munson and Laura Weber, sang some charming songs. Misses Pifer and Anders gave some lovely piano music and Prof. Frank Morrow, delighted the audience with his wonderful banjo playing. Mr. Will Dunwiddie accompanied Prof. Morrow, on the guitar, which instrument William plays beautifully. Mr. Tempest Slinger, who was present, sang some fine tenor songs. About twenty five ladies and gentlemen enjoyed the entertainment. Miss Bradley goes home to day and we hope she was as well pleased with Philipsburg and its people, as they were pleased with her—Ledger.

Peculiar

Many peculiar points make Hood's Sarsaparilla superior to all other medicines. Peculiar in combination, proportion, and preparation of ingredients, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. Peculiar in its strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, "One Hundred Doses One Dollar." Medicines in larger and smaller bottles require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's. Peculiar in its medicinal merits, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won for itself the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." Peculiar in its "good name at home,"—there is now more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers. Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, has no other preparation ever attained such popularity in so short a time, and retained its popularity and confidence among all classes of people so steadfastly. Do not be induced to buy other preparations, but be sure to get the Peculiar Medicine,

To Make New Blood Good for Old People

Old and infirm persons need some mild tonic or gentle stimulant, especially in warm weather. The wine made in New Jersey by Mr. Speer, called Speer's Port Wine, makes new healthy blood by reason of the iron in the soil. It is used by the most eminent physicians and in hospitals as the best tonic wine known. Speer's Claret is also regarded as the purest.

COOPER IS COMING.

The Veteran Manager with Unparalleled Success this Season.

Adam Forepaugh's famous tented combination, now on its twenty-seven annual tour, will make but one stand in this locality, and that at Glass Works Meadows Bellefonte, Saturday, May 24. It is well enough to remind votaries of sawdust and spangles hereabouts that this will be their only opportunity this summer to revel in the splendors of a big show, as by an arrangement with the other leading circus managers, the great 4-Paw Show has the exclusive privilege of exhibiting in this section of the country during the present season. The Show is said to now have the most novel, varied and interesting exhibition of its long and brilliant career. One of its recent important acquisitions is the famous original General Sheridans' Ride supplemented with the thrilling "Custer Battle," and a spectacular representation of the memorable Mountain Meadow Massacre. Capt. A. H. Bogardus and his three sons, the champion shots, and 200 noted scouts, cowboys, Sioux Indians and cavalrymen, appear in their historical dramas.

The circus, menagerie and hippodrome departments of the show have been elaborated and perfected in a superlative degree.

The Disagreeable Winter Gone.

Now that the cold, drizzly rains are transformed to delightful spring, and the muddy roads to pleasant drives, it would be well to look about and prepare for the lurking disease often coming with the new vegetation, as to better enable us to follow our daily avocations we should be in good health and spirits. No well regulated family is without a stimulant of some kind. Deception is probably more practiced by unscrupulous dealers in liquors than any other business. Max Klein, 82 Federal street, is a reliable party; to him we point with pleasure. No deception, no misrepresentation, no sailing under false colors with him. His Silver age Rye is positively pure and sold everywhere for $1.50 per quart only. His six-year-old Pennsylvania Rye at $1 each quart, or six quarts for $5, are as represented. His wines, brandies and gins are good and reasonable as any in the country. Send for complete catalogue and price list to Max Klien, 82 Federal street, Allegheny, Pa. tf

Evicting Tenants in Bellefonte.

The eviction of tenants seems synonomous with Irish rule, but it has lately broken out in Bellefonte. On Friday last Mr. William Jones evicted about 20 bad tenants—for the non-payment of rent, he said. The proceeding was, without doubt, a painful one, but when the gentleman referred to has a duty to perform he does it regardless of consequences. For full particulars inquire of Mr. Jones.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, and acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co.

If You Feel Dull and languid, have a poor appetite, and there is a lack of assimilation of food, it is an indication that the system is weakened, and rendered liable to contract serious disease. The blood needs purifying, and the general system requires a building up by the best of all Spring tonics—Brown's Sarsaparilla.

EPPING, N. H., May 6th, 1889.

Brown's Sarsaparilla is a good medicine. I know this as it has been in the house of my folks, and it is pronounced by them to be the best of all the Sarsaparillas for the blood, and will work wonders after others have failed, and were I in need of any medicine for the blood I would take that in preference to all others for the blood, kidneys, liver and stomach.

Dull and Languid

In the latter part of the winter and spring of 1885, I felt—I don't know how; no life; no ambition; no strength; drowsy; no appetite worth naming, and no relish for what little I did eat. I bought a bottle of Brown's Sarsaparilla. It seemed to do no good until nearly gone, when a tremendous itching of my feet and legs commenced; I continued till I had used six bottles; my appetite returned, my food tasted natural, and I, though now 63 years of age, feel as well and lively as I have for twenty years. I cannot speak too highly of Brown's Sarsaparilla.

Yours truly,
BENJAMIN HILL,
York Corner, Me.

Build Up the

A very strong case showing what Brown's Sarsaparilla will do for the children is that of the little daughter of Don A. H. Powers, Esq., of Houlton, Maine, brother of ex-Congressman Powers, and one of the leading lawyers of Aroostook county. His little five year old girl had been in delicate health, pale and with little appetite, for some time. Mr. Powers had never tried any patent medicines, and had little faith in them, but so numerous and strong were the words of commendation that came to him from neighbors and through the press, that he was induced to try a bottle of Brown's Sarsaparilla for the little one. This was used according to directions, and a second one purchased. What was the result? Mr. Powers says the variable appetite gave way to a natural and hearty desire for food, increased vigor and vivacity were noticeable, glowing cheeks and bright eyes took the place of the pallid face and sallow look, and the hearts of the parents were gladdened beyond expression by the wonderful change which had taken place in their darling.

System with

Annie B. Blodgett of Lisbon, N. H., writes: My husband and my niece have both taken Brown's Sarsaparilla by my advice, and we would not be without a bottle of it in the house. It has relieved me of many pains which I have suffered from for years. I have great faith in your medicine and wish I could commend it personally to all who are suffering from the many complaints of women caused by poor blood.

Since birth my baby had running sores all over his head, and the doctors said that he must die, for they could not heal them. I used everything I had ever heard of, but it was no good. He got so bad that he would not nurse. My husband's sister told me to try Sulphur Bitters as she had great faith in them. I used a bottle and the sores commenced to heal. After using two bottles more the sores all healed and I considered my baby saved.—Mother Concord, N. H.

POISON OAK.

The following extract, taken from a letter written by Mr. E. A. Bell, fully explains itself:

While surveying land in 1883 I accidently handled poison oak vine, and in less than three hours [the eruption usually resulting from such contract begins in ten days] my face was swollen and disfigured, and my hands and arms seriously affected. I immediately began taking Swift's Specific [S. S. S.] and after taking three large bottles I found all signs of the breaking out entirely removed. I was led to suspect its return at the same time next year, but it did not, nor has there been any indications of its return since.

My little boy, eight years old, was afflicted with the same poison in 1884. After taking several bottles of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) the eruptions entirely disappeared. A very slight form of the same eruption returned during the next spring, but we then resumed the S. S. S., and having taken enough during that season to make the cure permanent, he has not since had any return of the disease. Swift's Specific (S S S) certainly effected thorough cures in both these cases, and I regard it as a most effective remedy for all such diseases.

A General Boom for Hastings.

Primaries were held on Saturday in the counties of Lancaster, Clinton, Clarion and Lehigh, and in everyone the delegates will be instructed for General Hastings. "Tired All the Time,"

Say many poor men and women, who seem overworked, or are debilitated by change of season, climate or life. If you could read the hundreds of letters praising Hood's Sarsaparilla which come from people whom it has restored to health, you would be convinced of its merits. As this is impossible, why not try Hood's Sarsaparilla yourself and thus realize its benefit? It will tone and build up your system, give you a good appetite, overcome that tired feeling and make you feel, as one woman expresses it, "like a new creature."

They are Liable.

The County Superintendency—Facts Worth Considering.

[Taken from the body of Supt. Lieb's monthly report to the Board of Directors of Bellefonte Borough, March 11th 1890]

"The County Superintendency;—

The near approach of the close of Superintendent Wolf's third and [as he himself has declared] last term as County Superintendent of Schools will cause you to consider the fitness of candidates for this important office.

Your personal knowledge of the standing of Prof. D. O. Etters as a teacher will be your strongest incentive to support his candidacy. And while I feel that I can say nothing to you which will add to the esteem, his earnest efforts have begotten in you, yet I am sure that I can give you reasons why his candidacy is worthy of your heartiest support.

Prof. Etters is a scholar, His career in Pennsylvania State College was notably that of a careful, painstaking, progressive student, and that manner of man he is to this day: His fellow teachers and his pupils will all bear testimony to the fact that he brings to the daily recitation a mind quickened and strengthened by constant and recent study.

While these habits brought valuable results in the work of instruction, in our High School, yet in discipline he had been equally as successful, Calm, Careful, and Cautious, he has maintained right conduct without vexing or offending by harsh and imperious rules.

Nor will change of place change the man, a daily intercourse for now almost six years has shown me a man who can be affable without being familiar, Scholarly without being pedantic, pure in speech and with good name untarnished. One in fact who is best esteemed by those who best know him.

The teachers of Centre County, [if he shall be chosen their Superintendent] will of teachers, I wish that the school board of this district could offer such inducements to remain in his present useful place that there would be no temptation to seek another sphere of work."

Respectfully,
D. M. LIEB, Principal.

The report of the principal of schools was unanimously adopted by the Board and placed upon their minutes at the regular meeting held Tuesday evening March 11th. 1890, and it was also Resolved—That the Board knowing fully Prof D: O. Etters, his ability, success and impartiality, as a teacher, his kindness, tact, and disposition displayed in controling and managing the young men and women of our High School, his devotion to duty, his faithful discharge of every obligation as a man and citizen believing him to be eminently qualified by education and experience, by character, talent and disposition to faithfully and honestly fill the office of Superintendent of Public Schools of Centre county, with kind consideration we commend him to the support of our fellow directors throughout the body of the County. Certified from the Record.

D. F. FORTNEY, President.
W. B. RANKIN, Secretary.

It gives us pleasure to publish these evidences of the worth, faithfulness, ability, character and fitness of Professor Etters for the office of Superintendant of Public Schools of this county.

Mr. Etters has conducted his campaign with great dignity and fairness. He has not, nor have his friends done anything that does not strictly accord with the highest character and the most unscrupulous integrity and bounty. No one has been threatened by him or his friends, nor has he found it necessary to hire men out and out corrupt politicians who take no interest whatever in the schools to travel the county in his interest.

Nothing especially new on cross examination only that witness said Jonas did not say he was right there when the old man was killed.

W F Hoy called. On the 25th of March searched the Weaver premises and found knife—the one offered in evidence—under a stump; knife covered over with stones.

Cross examination elicited nothing new.

Fred Auman was the next witness called but his testimony as given in was not important—only corroborative of others.

Andrew Weaver (husband of Fietta) was next witness called. On cross examined he said he told John Mullen if he swore the knife was on the table he would swear to what was not true. Did not tell him a man would come down from Bellefonte and tend to him. He admitted having previously found the knife, and that he knew the knife was under the stump. Did not take the knife away because he was afraid it might get him into trouble.

Mrs. Annie Auman called. Am sister of Fietta Weaver. The child can not talk comprehensively.

John A. Long called. Was in the Bellefonte jail while the Auman,s were there. Remember of them being brought there. Have known them for 11 or 12 years. Jonas made statement to me about the murder. When talking at the cell door one day with Fietta Jonas came up and inquired what we were talking about. Fietta accused him of killing the old man. He acknowledged hat he did stick him but he hadn't intended to do it so hard. Did tell me he was sorry I was on the jury list that he had made admissions to me and that I would now go into the jury room then on the witness stand and convict him. He offered to sell me his watch for $2.50 if I would not tell on him. I told, however, then he got mad and said I had gotten him fast now and demanded his watch back. Told Fietta to swear she had done it and not get him into it any deeper. Told me the knife was under a stump behind the house and covered with stones: Saw Jonas write letters. Wrote them in Searson's cell. Prisoner tshown letter—think it the one written in Searson's cell. From recollection it was an offer to Fietta to swear a certain way at the preliminary hearing.

Cross examination. He wrote letters because he said he dare not go and talk to her. Jonas never denied making these statements only one day when the district attorney was there. Did not have an agreement with Fietta that if I would help to get her out of jail she would run away with me.

William T Searson called. Live in Harris twp. Was in jail when the Weaver's were brought in. Jonas told me that he was with Andy when he stoned Fietta. He then said he and his mother went up to our house. Before he got through, though, he said his mother was on the bridge, Fietta was in the house and that he was in the yard, and that he "jug" the old man. He said he would rather go to jail for 20 years than to hang because it would hurt. Witness recognizes letter offered in evidence as those of Jonas Auman:

Cross exemination. Did not see him write the letters. Know them by the hand write. Did not read the letters. He came to me to address his letters. Did write letters that one—referring to letter shown him. Did not tell you he had made no admissions of guilt to me.

William Grove called. Live in Potter township. Jonas Auman now works for me. Told me one week ago that he and old man were at the hog pen when Fietta came down and the two got to quarreling, and old man got to throwing stones. Said he saw old Andy fall from the porch but did not say he was present when killing was done, or that he saw him killed. Nothing new on cross-examination.

Dr. Dorworth called. Am jail physician. Examined Fietta Weaver on her admission to jail. She was bruised and cut in several places.

Fietta Weaver called. Am 34 years old, married to Andy Weaver, nine years ago. Have lived in the mountanis 6 or 7 years. Have two children. John Mullen is my son, what he said was not true. There has been trouble about land between my sisters and I. Was at home on January 27. There was quarreling in the morning and evening. Husband came home at 9 o'clock, got a piece and went to bed. Afterwards heard them fighting down at the other house. At 4 o'clock the next morning they were fighting. Spoke to Andy about going down in the evening. Heard no quarreling again. John Mullen came there for a bag but was not in the house. Went to feed the pigs and heard them call each other bad names. They were fighting, the old man said if Jonas did not pay him he would cut the insides out of him; Jonas said he would have to knock it out of him. Was at the hog pen when the old man commenced to call me names and then throw stones. Did not throw stones at him, I took my little girl and went to the house. The old man followed me, forced his way into the house, threw me down and bumped my head up and down on the floor. When I got up the old man took his knife out and said he would cut my guts out. Just then Jonas came along and the old man told him to stay out. Jonas said he would not stay out for anybody. Jonas came in the house and he and the old man got to fighting. They fought and finally the old man was forced out on the porch and Jonas tried to shut the door but could not. The old man tried to get in but could not. Saw Jonas strike, with his left hand, the old man with a knife; saw him pull the knife back and saw blood on it. Then Jonas went out and talked to mother. I went out and saw the old man lying there. Wanted them to help me get him in the house but they would not do it. Then Jonas told me if I said anything about him being up there he would put a bullet in me if it was two years after. He then went up around the house and out home. Saw him take out his handkerchief wet it and try to wipe something off his pants: Knife shown her and said the last time she saw the knife was two weeks before the murder was done at the home of old Andy. Saw it again in the hands of Jonas the time of the killing. I did not stab old Andy Weaver, I did see Jonas stab him. Jonas and James told me I did not dare tell on Jonas or he would kill me. They said I was to say I done it in self defense and they could not do anything with me as the old man had no business up there. The old clothes that Fietta wore that day were offered in evidence to prove the struggle. There were several rents in the clothing. I received the letters from Jonas offering me money to swear I done it in self defence. [Letters are offered as evidence.]

Cross—Ex. I was at the hog pen feeding the pigs. Saw Noah Lingle. Didn't throw stones nor did not threaten to kill the old man.

L. A. Schaeffer called. There is a man on the grand jury list by the name of John A. Long. He was from Harris twp.

Defendants rest.

Commonwealth offer evidence in rebuttal.

Mrs. Ellen Wilson called. Andrew Weaver was at our house on the 22nd of March and said he had found a knife with blood spots on it. He was there again on Monday evening when he denied the former statement. He had then been to Bellefonte.

Cross examination. He did not say where he found it. When he denied it, it was on Monday about 4.30 p m,

Andrew Wilson called. Andrew Weaver stopped at our house on evening of the 24th of March. Asked me what had been said about the knife being found, but asked me to stay at home the next day. He denied of finding the knife but told me to stay at home.

I C Stover re-called. I examined the stump where the knife was found. Looked at it about two weeks after the murder. Found no knife nor no stones.

Cross examination. It was about two weeks after the murder. I was not alone. There are a good many stumps there, some pretty near the one under which the knife was found. I examined the stump carefully; think, in fact know, the knife was not there where it is said the knife was found. Am positive there were no stones.

Jacob Kern called. I examined the stump for a knife. The stump was pointed out to me as the one at which the knife was found. I examined it about 2 weeks after the murder. Andrew Weaver was with me. Nothing further on cross examination:

'Squire Garthoff was re-called and testified that Andy Weaver did tell John Mullen that he should not swear the knife was on the table that morning or a man would come down from Bellefonte and tend to him. John Page was called and corroborated the above testimony.

Samuel Ard called. Heard Andrew Weaver ask Fietta in the jail where the other knife was. He said he had two but could not find the third one, and he believed that was the knife with which the murder was committed: Andrew told me he now thought he could find the knife:

Amos Mullen called and testified to hearing Fietta say that the old man killed himself.

John Mullen re-called. Went to bed early the evening before the murder Was in bed when Susan came in; she had been to Jim's.

Mrs. Susan Schaffer called. Remember the night before the murder. Susan Auman was up at Jim's. She left a little after 9 o'clock.

Benjamin Wingart re-called. Andrew Weaver came home about 5 o'clock the night before the murder.

Commonwealth rests and the testimony closed at 4,45 o'clock p m and at 4.55 Wm Gray commenced his argument.

Mr. Gray spoke eloquently for over two hours and labored earnestly in behalf of his client. It was after 8 o'clock when he finished his argument and Mr. J. C. Meyer commenced to speak. The reputation of the district atttorney is already well known and, on this occasion, he spoke clear and forcibly as ever. Mr. Meyer only spoke about one hour.

The Court then delivered its charge, in which the different degrees of murder were defined. The Judge said that in this case, according to the evidence, the verdict must be guilty of "voluntary manslaughter" or else acquitted; that the degree of crime could be nothing else.

It was just 9.50 when the jury retired and it was just 11.32 when they returned a verdict of "guilty."

Three Useful Hints.

All kerosene lamps should be filled in the day time and at a regular hour. They must not be too full; they must be very carefully wiped off. The globes and chimneys should be kept clean and clear. The wicks are best trimmed by simply rubbing off the charred surface. The light is often affected by the holes in the burner becoming clogged. This can be remedied by boiling the burners in a strong solution of washing soda.

To purify a room, set a pitcher of water in the department, and in a few hours it will have absorbed all the respired gases in the room, the air of which will become purer, but the water utterly filthy. The colder the water the greater the capacity to absorb these gases. At the ordinary temperature a pail of water will absorb a pint of carbonic acid gas and several pints of ammonia. The capacity is nearly doubled by reducing the water to the temperature of ice.

To clean silk: The garment must be first ripped and brushed. Spread on a flat board an old blanket, covered with an old sheet; then sponge the silk on both sides, rubbing any dirty spots particularly with this mixture: One-half cup of gall, one-half cup of ammonia and one-half pint of tepid soft water. Roll the silk on a stick—an old broom handle will do, being careful that no wrinkles are left in. Let it dry without ironing. Woolen goods may be treated in the same manner.

—During this week there have been more candidates in Bellefonte to the square inch than there are feathers on a half grown goose. We have had them from Governor down through the entire list of Congressman, State Senator, Legislature, Sheriff, about forty eleven for commissioner—counting both sides of the house, and all the other offices. Oh! it has been a happy week so far. Every man you meet, it appears, even if in former days he would turn up his nose and pass you by, now greets you as an old friend and it really makes one believe he is somebody of vast importance.

Millheim Murmurings.

The turnpike leading from Millheim to Aaronsburg is in a very bad condition at several places and should be repaired without delay.

About Bellefonte's New Opera House.

The editor of the Jersey Shore Herald was recently in Bellefonte and on his return home published the following about the new opera house Bellefonte will soon have.

"This building will be 90 by 52 feet with four entrance ways and fire proof, heated with steam, and lighted by electric light or gas. The seating capacity will be 1,000 opera chairs, folding seats. The stage will be large and convenient, under which will be eight large dressing rooms. Full set of handsome scenery; proscenium opening 21 feet high and 58 feet wide; curtain line to wall, 30 feet, 50 feet wide, clear; 38 feet rigging loft, 15 feet grooves and 18 feet to the floor. The auditorium will be on the ground floor, with large gallery in the form of a horse shoe, and the roof will be of steel. The interior will be handsomely frescoed and decorated, and when completed will have but few if any equals in that part of the State. This structure will be a fair specimen of Mr. Garman's push and enterprise."

The Lycoming County Judgeship.

The petition of the contestants in the Lycoming judicial contest for a re-opening of the case was presented to the Court Tuesday, by S. T. McCormick, Esq., and is now being held under advisement. The petition prays the Court "to examine and pass upon certain affidavits which had been taken out of the ballot boxes by the Court in January last, and then filed in the Prothonotary's office by order of the Court. These affidavits, it was alleged, were made by registered voters in different districts of the county, and were defective in form and substance. The petition contains the names of 148 parents, whose affidavits were thus defective, but are not the names of persons whose votes were attacked by either party to the contest as illegal. The whole number of affidavits of unregistered voters found in the ballot boxes, when they were opened by the Court to take out the original registry lists in January last, were about three hundred, as alleged in the argument Tuesday.

Of course no one can tell what action the three judges will take, which will be determined on after they have considered the subject matter of the petition. But if the case should be reopened the end will not be reached for months to come. However this matter can be safely left in the hands of the three eminent jurists who compose the Court,

May she rest in peace.

—Our friend Mr. Clement Dale, one of Bellefonte's brightest legal lights should rejoice because of the newspaper notoriety he is receiving over the things he didn't say regarding political matters one day when some person thought he saw him in Tyrone. And he should rejoice all the more because of the fact that at the time he was alleged to have been seen in Tyrone he was busy with his legal business in the Centre county courts.

GUILTY as INDICTED

A JURY OF TWELVE FIND FIETTA WEAVER "GUILTY" FOR

KILLING OLD MAN WEAVER

The Jury Returned their Verdict at 11.30 Friday Night.—Eloquent Pleading. The Full Proceedings.

After hearing all the testimony for and against, the case well and ably argued and the charge of the Court the jury, after being out but one hour and forty minutes, returned a verdict of "voluntary manslaughter."

In the case of Commonwealth vs. Supervisors of Boggs township evidence was heard all of Wednesday forenoon. It is needless to say that all the evidence offered in this case—both for and against—was about as complicated as it is possible to get evidence. The court charged the jury and they retired on the adjournment of court for dinner. As soon as court convened in the afternoon the jury handed in a verdict of not guilty and divided the costs between the prosecutor and defendant.

The case of Commonwealth vs. D. J. Meyer was settled.

In the case of Commonwealth vs. Jno. D. Veidorfer, the grand jury ignored the bill and placed the costs on the county. Veidorfer was called forward by the Court and cautioned as to the way he should use his knife in the future—never, under any circumstances, to use it unless his life was in danger and it was impossible for him to get away safe.

At 2.30 o'clock the district attorney reported no bills returned from the grand jury and word was sent in to them. No bills were forthcoming, however, up till three o'clock, at which time court was adjourned until 9 o'clock next morning when the last criminal case—that of Commonwealth vs. Fietta Weaver and husband will be taken up.

THURSDAY MORNING SESSION.

When court convened this morning, promptly at 9 o'clock, it was with a very small percentage of visitors present but with all the traverse jurors, save two, present. The grand jury returned their only bill—in the case of Fietta Weaver charged with murder—and the same was at once taken up. The prisoner—Fietta Weaver—was brought in smiling and confident. When the arraignment was made she plead "not guilty" and demanded a trial by God and her country. District Attorney Meyer represents the Commonwealth and William Gray represents the prisoner.

Christ Heberling was the first juror called on the panel. He is a farmer from Ferguson township. Not challenged

Thomas Heberling called. Live in Ferguson township. Have formed or expressed no opinion. Stood aside.

J B Roan called. Live in Benner twp. Have formed no opinion. Challenged

Wallace Crider called. Have no conscientious scruples. Have no opinion. Have read account and formed an opinion, but such could be changed by evidence. Challenged.

Henry Glossner, of Snow Shoe, called. Sick and was excused by the Court.

James B. Proudfoot called. Have no opinion or no bias. No scruples agains capital punishment. Stood aside.

George Fink called. Live in Huston township. Have heard of the case, have formed and expressed an opinion. Not challenged.

John D. Brown called. No conscientious scruples, no bias for or against. Not challenged:

J W Adams. Live in Howard township. Have read account but found no opinion. Challenged.

J B Shope called. Live in Huston township. Have formed and expressed no opinion. Stood aside.

Frank Grow called. Have formed and expressed an opinion. Have no bias. Challenged.

Isaac Wrye of Half Moon twp., called Stood aside.

Elmer Vaughn, not challenged.
William Mann, stood aside.
Theodore Adams, challenged.
J. F. Schenck, not challenged.
Isaiah Struble, challenged.
J H Wagner, challenged.
Michael Riley, challenged.
D A Deitrick, not challenged.
E I Walker, challenged.

Martin Reese, challenged for cause.
H. H. Benner, challenged for cause.
John S Bush, stood aside.
William H Shultz, stood aside.
Albert Owen, stood aside.
R D Runkle, challenged.
H. H. Schroyer, not challenged.
John Love, stood aside.
Edward Crawford, challenged.
Chas. McGarvey, stood aside.
T C Bell, challenged for cause.

The jury as then sworn stood as follows:

Christ Heberling, farmer, Ferguson.
Samuel Irvin, blacksmith, Ferguson.
B. Roulson, manufacturer, Howard.
L. H. Musser, agent, Patton.
George Fink, farmer, Huston.
John D Brown, jeweler, Snow Shoe.
Elmer Vaughn, laborer, Worth.
Jno. F. Schenck, farmer, Howard.
D H Deitrick, teacher, Walker.
Wm. Brooks, farmer, Boggs.
Jacob Stine, blacksmith, Walker.
H H Schroyer, merchant, Bellefonte

District Attorney Meyer opened the case for the Commonwealth in a short statement to the jury of the nature of the case. The first witness called was James Auman. He testified to being the son of Susan and the brother of Jonas and Fietta. He went to the Weavers shortly before 9 o'clock and was there awhile when he returned to his home. Between ten and eleven word was brought him that Andrew Weaver, Sr., was murdered. He went for Squire Garthoff. Knows nothing about how it occurred. Knows the parties did fight some and had made threats, also. Nothing new on cross examination.

Jonas Auman called. Live with my mother, Susan Auman, in Penn twp. Andrew Weaver Sr., and John Mullen lived there to. Was home on morning of murder. Fietta was there that morning. James Auman was also there. He stayed an hour; came for clover seed, between 8 and 9 o'clock Weaver and I started for Spring Mills; he had on a vest and blue coat and soft hat; went on the public road, met Noah Lingle spoke couple of words to him. Saw Fietta at the pig stable along the road Fietta called to the old man and he called to her, saw old man throw stones at Fietta but did not see her throw any at him. He then went up to the house. Saw him go up to the door. I then went up to our own house; nobody there but mother and I. I did not stay there long; soon went out again and saw old man lying at Fietta's house. Saw the old man first from inside our house. Heard Fietta say "Andy, leave me go," this was before I saw him. Mother and I then started over; she went to Fietta's house and I went to James' to notify him.

Cross-examination. We quarreled once. Never threatened to kill the old man. Didn't have any quarrel the night before the murder, neither did we quarrel in the morning. [The defense tried hard to make witness acknowledge a quarrel that morning but failed.] Saw old man go up to house and burst the door open; was in the house when I saw him; looking out of the window. When we went out Fietta came out on road and told us the old man had stabbed himself. We went on up to Jim's. Never told Andy Walker that I was within 4 feet of the old man when he dropped. Never told Susan that Fietta was in the house and that I jagged the old man, didn't tell John Long that I stuck the old man but hadn't intended to stick him so hard, never told any man where the knife was hidden. Did know that Long was on the jury list, but never said I would give $100 if he wasn't. Did not tell mother in the jail that now they had found the knife I was fast. Did not tell Fietta to swear she did it in self-defense to save me. Did not offer $2.50 to swear she did it. Did not write the letters.

Re-direct. When the old man went to Fietta's he had his left side next the door. Held a mock court in the jail and tried to make me say I killed the old man. Mike Fennesy was the man.

Susan Auman called. Fred Kurtz sworn as interpreter. Live in the mountain; Am mother of Fietta Weaver, Jonas and James Auman. Live in my own house. Was at home on January 28. James Auman was there but John Mullen was not. Saw Jonas and old man go away; they were not quarreling. Saw Noah Lingle on the road. [This witness then described the meeting at the hog pen which was corroborative of that of former witness.] Heard Fietta say that she would kill him or he would kill her. When Jonas and I returned to house heard some one say "My God, don't." Jonas said not to go over because we always had a quarrel. Saw the old man come out of the house, the door close and he came down along-side of the porch. When he did not get up we went over to Jim's.

Cross examination. James Auman was there that morning, left about nine o'clock. About half an hour after when old man and Jonas left. Did not go out with them. There was no quarreling. The old man threw the first stone, don't know whether he hit her or not. What didn't see I can't say. Saw no fighting.

S D Ray called. Live in Bellefonte. Do some surveying, was upon the scene of the murder on the 11th of April. Took a measurement of the grounds of which I made a map. [Map produced in court and explanations made. Also map showing size and furnishings of the room in which Fietta was.] Located a stump back of the house about 21 feet, six feet from the table to the door.

John Mullen called, Mr. Kurtz as interpreter. [The boy cried when placed on the stand.] Am 12 years old. Live with Jim since this happened. Was at home on January 28, but went to the mill. Was at Fietta's house that morning before I started, saw a knife on Fietta's table. Recognizes knife produced in court as the one, knows the knife well; belongs to young Andy. Stole it while butchering, never saw the knife afterwards until here. Saw the knife thrown away last summer. Andy threw it away because Fietta wanted to stab him with it; she afterwards found it.

Cross—Ex. Got the knife at Jerry Hoy's. Nobody put me up to tell the story. Stayed with old Andy, young Andy and his mother. Fietta is my mother. Went to young Andy's house to get the bag; was in about ten minutes. Went to the mill and when I came back saw the old man lying alongside of the porch. There was no one in the house No one put me up to saying this. Andy told me [illegible] to say I saw knife on the table.

Noah [illegible] ed. Am 13 years old [cried] [illegible] of January went to John Co[illegible] lim[illegible] between 10 and 11 o'clock. Didn't time myself, saw Fietta when I come back and they were fighting. Old Andy and Jones were there, they were not quarreling. Fietta began the quarreling by jawing and throwing stones. Old Andy then threw stones too. He followed Fietta to her house; she said she would cut his guts out if he followed her, which he did. Saw him go in the house. When they went into the house above Susan and Jonas went in the house below.

Nothing new on cross examination.

Ezra Auman. Live at Coburn. Was teaching school at the school house near. Saw James Auman come up but not go back, until I saw James, Jonas and Susan Auman go down. Saw Noah Lingle go up but not down.

J H Garthoff called. Live in Coburn. Am Justice of the Peace. Was teaching school on morning of the 28th. James Auman came to me at 20 minutes past 10 and informed me of the murder. I went with him to the place, empaneled a jury and held a hearing. Saw the body of old Andy lying face downward on the right side of the porch as you would enter the house. Had the body removed to the house of Susan Auman. Found a pocket knife on the body of the old man. Where the body lay was a large pool of blood; the clothing also was bloody. Found a cut on the left side a couple of inches below the arm. Looked as if made with a knife. His face was also bruised. [Witness then gave the statement. Fietta first made to him when she was taken prisoner, the same was published in this paper twice already and we won't republish.]

Cross examination. The cut was just through the edge of the vest. The old man had been picked up and was lying on the porch when the knife was found.

J C Stover called. Live in Penn township. Was at the scene of the murder between 10 and 11. Was on the jury of inquest, I recognize the pocket knife as the one found on Andy Weaver. He was lying on his back when knife was found. Saw the blood stains on the door; heaviest at the latch. Fietta told me the old man chased her to the house, and made threats, she went into the house, he broke the door open and she shut it when he fell off the porch and that was all she knew. Nothing new on cross examination.

Andrew Wilson called, Live in Penn township. Was at the place of murder between 10 and 11 o'clock. Saw blood marks on door, slanting diagonally up towards the hinge. Saw it on the jam; don't think it could get there with the door shut.

Cross—Ex. Brought out nothing more.

Benjamin Weigart called. Live in Penn twp. Was at home on January 28. First I knew was when James Auman ran down the road; then heard some one cry. I asked James what was wrong and he told me old Andy was lying down dead. I was on the jury of inquest, I observed the blood spots, don't think they could get there with the door closed. Nothing new on cross examination.

Dr. Erank called. Reside in Millheim. Was at the scene of the murder on the day it occurred—between 4 and 5 o'clock. Found body of old Andy in his house. Made the post mortem on the 29th. Found 8 abrasions; and one cut in the left side; the instrument penetrated the heart cutting through the lung. The wound was 5½ inches in length. The direction of wound was from behind forwards and slightly downward. The wound was parallel with the ribs. The wound would produce instant death. Could be made by the butcher knife offered in evidence. There is a possibility of it being self-inflicted but no probability. It could not have been made with the knife found on his body. Nothing new on cross examination.

Jerry Weigart. Live in Penn twp. Was present when the hat of Andy was found under the bridge, on the west side Don't think it could have washed there. Saw one blood stain on hat. Nothing new on cross examination.

Mrs. Hettie Fryer called. Live at Coburn. Was at the Justice's office at the time of hearing. Fietta told me it was only spite work; that she had to kill him or he would have killed her. Nothing more on cross examination.

Mrs. Wm. Auman called but was not in.

Mr. Stover called. The stains could have been made by the withdrawal of the knife.

Squire Garthoff recalled and corroborated the above opinion as to the blood spots.

Court adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9.15 o'clock.

FRIDAY MORNING SESSION.

Court convened at 8.45 with only a handful of people in the house. There is not a great amount of interest manifested at this trial—indeed, it is so unlike the trial of either Hopkins or Andrews that one could not judge it to be a murder trial if it was not known to be so.

'Squire Garthoff recalled to identify the knife offered in evidence.

Dr. Frank recalled but was not in the room.

J C Stover recalled to explain draught made by S. D. Ray.

Dr. Frank recalled and questioned as to the condition of Fietta. The arm of the old man was necessarily raised when the blow was given. The blow was a hard one.

Mrs. William Auman called. Fred Kurtz as interpreter, Know Fietta Weaver. She told me at her house that she had to kill the old man or he would kill her.

Cross examination. About half an hour afterwards. It was on the road. Fietta spoke first. This is my own knowledge, nobody put me up to tell this story.

Elizabeth Fryer called. Know Fietta Weaver. Heard her say once that she would kill the old man and old lady; this was day before the murder; it was in the road near Fietta's home—we were alone. Nothing new on cross examination.

Benjamin Wingart re-called. Know Fietta Weaver. Heard her threaten to kill the old man.

Cross examination. They frequently quarreled, Never heard Jonas threaten to kill any one.

John Mullen re-called. Shown two other knives but does not remember of seeing them.

Commonwealth rests.

William Gray, Esq., opened the case for the defense in a three quarters of an hour speech to the jury in which he strove to shift the burden of guilt from the shoulders of Fietta to those of Jonas Auman.

Clell Bamford was the first witness called for the defense. Live in Bellfonte' was employed at the jail of Centre county two months. Remember the occasion when Jonas came to Hopkins' cell and I told him they found the knife with which the old man was killed. Don't remember that it made him nervous.

Andy Walker called. Live in Bellefonte. Was jail watchman from Feb. 13 to April 9. Frequently talked to the Auman's and Fietta. Jonas told me one evening that he was not guilty; next day requested me to ask district attorney to come up. Told Jonas I saw the knives that killed the old man. He contradicted me and said the knife that killed the old man had not been found; that it was hidden behind the house under a stump. Jonas said that after the quarrel at the pig pen he, Fietta and the old man went to the house and that he was right there when the old man was killed. Jonas did say if I would send some one up he would tell me all about it.

AN OLD MAID'S SOLILOQUY.

"To take or not to take it, is the question—
Whether it is better to end this earthly career
A spinster—braving the smiles of those who would insist
That lack of lovers caused my lonely state,—
Or take the remedies my sisters take,
And see my eyes grow bright as tho' I bathed
In the immortal fount De Leon sought
In vain in Florida's peaceful shades.
I oft have heard my married sisters say
That good old Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription
Would bring back color to a faded cheek—
Restore the health of one who fain would die
To rid herself of all the pain she feels."

The aforesaid spinster took the remedy—and forthwith took a husband also, having regained her health and blooming beauty.

Thousands of women owe their fresh, blooming countenances to the restorative effects of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb.

is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by adult or infant. Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervine without being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

A GENUINE TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE,

Many of them used by the Indians and the medical profession in the treatment of chills and fevers, rheumatism, catarrh, consumption, neuralgia, headaches, liver complaint, kidney disease, jaundice, gout, piles, boils, skin diseases, &c., &c., too numerous to mention, but easily understood when the action of the Bitters on the vital functions is remembered. Local Department.

—Courting again this week.

—Will we have more rain to-day?

—Sunday was good growing weather.

—This is excellent growing weather.

—The water assessment will soon be made.

—School directors are no novelty in Bellefonte to-day.

—The early fruit trees are now putting forth their blossoms.

—How do you like that hat—the one sported by L. L. Brown, Esq.

—Strawberries are selling in the Tyrone market for 25 cents a box.

—Who can guess what color Sourbeck will paint his place of business?

—A good many of the cases down on the list for trial this week are being settled.

—Ex-Landlord W. R. Teller is in Altoona attending to some personal business.

—The Garman opera house is growing rapidly. Already the scaffolding for the stage is up.

—A Huntingdon county man has been shot for alienating the affections of an other man's wife.

—The barefooted boy and the straw hat are now everyday sights on the streets of Bellefonte.

—Mr. W. D. Port is going to start a store in the room under Gillam's shoe store, Crider's block.

—Are we going to have a big Fourth of July? If so, is it not soon time to say so; and if not, why not?

—The bricklayers are now at work laying brick on Col. Wilkinson's new house, on Allegheny street.

—And now the Howard post office squabble is settled. Mr. H. T. Lucas has been appointed postmaster at that place —With to-day this paper commences the publication of a weekly post office report. See it elsewhere in to-day's issue.

—Mr. Wheelan and family of Philadelphia, have not yet got comfortably located in the Dartt residence on Allegheny street.

—It is said that Mr. J. A. Fiedler has purchased the property of Mr. H. K. Hicks, on East Linn street. Considerationfive thousand.

—Mr. and Mrs. James D. McKee are cosily settled in their new home in the late home of Mr. J. A. Woodcock and family, on East Linn street.

—Rev. J. O. Davis, of this place, will preach a sermon on the evening of Ascension Day, May 15th, in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Lock Haven.

—The leaves on the trees in Bellefonte have come out wonderfully fast. On Sunday they were only bursting buds and now they are almost full grown.

—Such grand juries as served in Centre county last week ought to be very scarce. We do not know its politics but, even that would be no excuse for some of its actions.

—There is more dignity and decorum connected with the Centre county court and its officers than with any other corresponding body in the State of Pennsylvania.

—The following persons in Centre county have been granted an increase of pensions: William H Close, Oak Hall Station; George W Hoover, Stormstown; Byers Price, Milesburg.

—Mr. Samuel Gault, presided at the meeting of council Monday night with more dignity than usual. Reason, he has suddenly become a "grandpa." Samuel said it made him feel a great deal older'

—A special dispatch in the Altoona Times states that a wreck occurred at Osceola last night and that several were killed. It is all a mistake there was no wreck and consequently, nobody killed.

—A Philipsburg merchant says he sells lots of goods to Bellefonte people and accounts for it from the fact that he advertises extensively and the Bellefonte merchants don't. Shouldn't wonder if that was the reason.

—What is wrong with Renovo? They secured a new Chief of Police there on Tuesday: he was sworn in on Thursday and resigned on Saturday. That is quick work and a short session, but why is it that they won't serve longer.

—James Wolfendon, of Lock Haven, has been writing for a Steelton paper in regard to the removal of the State capital to the centre of the State. Mr. Wolfendon thinks it should be at either Lock Haven, Hublersburg or Bellefonte.

—The handsome banner recently purchased by Constans Commandery, Knights Templar, of this place, will be carried to Lock Haven on the occasion of the encampment in that place, and we venture to predict that it will be the handsomest banner there.

—The Pittsburg Times is again out with another contest. This time it offers $380 to those guessing correctly the standing of either the National or Players' League clubs on the evening of July 31. The Times is one of the most wide a wake papers in the State.

DECORATION DAY.

General Orders No. 6, Issued for May 30.

HEADQUARTERS DEPT., OF PA., G. A. R. N. E. COR. 10TH AND CHESTNUT STS., PHILADELPHIA, MAY 2, 1890.

Comrades: Once again the indices on the dial plate of time admonish us of the approach of our sacred Memorial Day. So paramount is every thought and action of our organization connected with the privilege, the solemn pleasure, and the duty of honoring and perpetuating the memory of our departed comrades in arms, that it seems almost a work of superrogation to call this fact to the attention of any member of the Grand Army of the Republic. But, it is sweet and profitable that we should commune and strengthen one another in our desire to so guide our actions on this particular occasion of the year, as to again renew our high resolves of love and loyalty to the memory of those who have preceded us to the last muster, and by our proper conduct and example, command the respect and commendation of all our fellow-citizens throughout the Nation. Spring welcomes "our day" with her fairest garb and her most beautiful offerings. Let us reverently and affectionately garland each patriot's couch in our Department, with the choicest of these, and with fervent manly love send a benison of reverence to the unknown graves of our patriot brothers, which dot the plains and hillsides of our sunny southland.

II. May 30th, 1890, will be observed by the Posts of this Department as Memorial Day; and it is hoped that every comrade will consider it his bounden duty to set aside this one day of the year, to the solemn performance of the requirements of our association. Discourage levity and merry-making by every means in your power; and by your example during the whole day attest to the young, the giddy and the thoughtless that this day is set apart by the American people as one of holiness and respect to the memory of our soldier dead.

III. Posts will follow the usual custom of dividing the work in localities where this is made necessary; but care should be taken that not one grave be left unmarked. Many new mounds will be found in almost every cemetery, and they, too, should have your tender attention.

IV. Other kindred and patriotic associations, such as the "Women's Relief Corps," the "Ladies of the G. A. R.," the "Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United Sates," the "Union Veteran Legion," and the "Sons of Veterans," should be formally invited to participate, under the direction and as the guests of the Grand Army of the Republic.

V. It is recommended that Posts attend Divine Service on the Sabbath preceding Memorial Day.

VI. Regular forms for Memorial Day Services, as adopted by the Department of Pennsylvania, can be obtained at these Headquarters by Posts that are not already supplied.

BY COMMAND OF Department Commander

They Should Have Been Lectured.

It is not very often that this paper sees the necessity of severe criticism being made on the actions of any Grand Jury, but the members of the jury that sat on the criminal cases brought up for trial last week are certainly deserving of the severest censure. Any jury or body of men that would ignore cases such as were presented to them for consideration last week, and which were ignored, had better go back to the "old school house" of their boyhood days and learn the difference between right and wrong.

For instance, take the Viedorfer case, the bill in which was ignored and the costs put on the county. The jury said that no evidence was produced that there had been anything more done than simply a man knocked down when, the truth is, as we personally know, that the man himself, with a scar on his neck left by the deadly thrust of a dangerous knife, that could be seen by all in the court room, was before that body of men. What more did they want than this witness of the fight? and yet they ignored the bill on the grounds of no evidence.

A COMMENDABLE MOVEMENT.

A Correspondent Has a Word to Say to the Ladies of Bellefonte—A Dig at the Commissioners.

Dear Ladies:—

Has it ever occurred to you that this town—dear old Bellefonte—is naturally the most beautiful you ever saw? I think it is, and am dead in love with it. Nature has done much for it; the men evidently think much of it, as is evidenced by the money invested in handsome residences and business places. Now don't you think you could do much towards beautifying it if you put your minds to it? You are well fitted for the work; give up, for awhile, the visionary, unsubstantial idea of making everybody good, and devote your energies to the possible, beneficial and practical work of beautifying our town. Organize yourselves into a Public Improvement Society and go to work. Make life a weary burden to the county commissioners until they do something deserving our grand old county on the little piece of ground owned by it.

See to it that the old barrels, boxes and garbage are not permitted to disfigure the streets. And there is the "bellefontaine"—the beautiful spring. What possibilities for beauty and attractiveness are there? Now, dear ladies, you can, if you will, do much more that is useful in this line, in a short time, than in a life time of striving after the visionary and impracticable notions of universal reform. The result must be a great moral benefit. But, for goodness sake, don't place any more green angels on the streets. Worry the life out of the town officials until the pestiferous cow is banished from our streets. I think if you ponder on this subject a little you will see that the ideas suggested are based on practical common sense.

BELLEFONTER.

PROFESSOR ETTERS GOT THERE.

HE IS ELECTED COUNTY SUPERINTENDENT BY AN OVERWHELMING MAJORITY.

The school directors of Centre county assembled in convention on Tuesday for the purpose of electing a County Superintendent. It was just 12.43 when the gavel of Supt. D. M. Wolf fell, calling the convention to order and announcing that it was now ready for an organization.

D. F. Fortney, Esq., nominated Dr. E. A. Russel, of Unionville, for chairman, Nomination seconded and Dr. Russell elected. Hon. W. K. Alexander was then chosen reading clerk, and W B Rankin and W E Irvin tally clerks.

The roll was next called which showed an attendance of 163 out of 188, the total number of directors in the county. Director H D Lee moved that the convention proceed to the nomination of candidates for the office of County Superintendent. Carried.

Mr J C P Jones nominated Prof. D O Etters, of Bellefonte.

Dr. E A Russell nominated R E Cambridge, of Unionville.

W O Hosterman nominated C L Gramley, of Rebersburg.

W E Landon nominated Prof. J M Wilson, of Philipsburg.

W K Alexander moved the nominations come to a close. Carried.

The convention then proceeded to ballot with the following result:

Etters	100
Gramley	40
Wilson	11
Cambridge	12

W E Landon moved the election of Prof. Etters be made unanimous. Carried. The convention then gave three lusty cheers for Etters, calling on him for a speech but he was not in the room.

D F Fortney, begged the indulgence of the convention for a few minutes while he spoke to them on the movement to have director's expenses paid when attending the call of the county superintendent, after which the convention adjourned sine die.

—Over in Huntingdon county they are talking of the great interest manifested over the Weaver trial in this place. They have yet to learn that in Bellefonte murder trails have become of too common occurrence to create a "great interest," save by the parties personally and particularly interested The Weaver murder trial did not draw a larger crowd of on-lookers than is often to be seen at any ordinary ejectment case. So much for notoriety.

—This office was favored on Saturday with a visit from two Thomases, neither of them doubting Thomases, but both as welcome as flowers in May. One was Thomas E. Watt, Esq., District Passenger Agent, P. R. R., Pittsburg, and the other our younger, but none the less worthy friend, Thomas W. Shoemaker, of Bellefonte, than whom there is no more energetic and successful manager in the iron producing industry of this State.—Altoona Times.

Post Office Report.

Following is the report of the business done in the Bellefonte post office for the week ending May 3, 1890.

—Mr. George W. Fisher and wife, of Loveville were in Bellefonte on Tuesday Mr. Fisher is being urged by his friends to run for the nomination for the office of Register. Should he conclude to do so he is entitled to, and no doubt would, receive the support of every republican in Centre county as well as many democrats. Mr. Fisher is a good republican has always been interested in the success of the party, and is very deserving of, anything he might ask.

—On Saturday night there were two car loads of Italians arrived in Bellefonte, consigned to the Collins' Bros., we are informed, and on Monday they were taken up the Buffalo Run and put to work in the ore mines. There were about one hundred of them and they were a hard looking set.

—We suppose there will soon be a handsome Court House in Bellefonte now as the commissioners were this morning discussing the advisability of taking stone for the costs of a Commonwealth suit that was tried last week.

What Was Done at Council.

When the members of council assembled on Monday night they hardly knew themselves. This was owing to the fact of the woundrous change made in the council chamber since the last meeting. The room has decreased in size—but is still large enough—and now it is almost square. A bright new carpet, of handsome design, covers the floor, and beautiful new paper adorns the walls It is now a very handsome and cheerful room and the boys of the Logan Hose company deserve much credit for the taste they have displayed in fixing up their quarters.

When council convened on Monday night there was only a quorum present. Mr. David Butts was there and requested council to serve notice that no pavement be laid on Armour street. Referred to street committee for investigation.

Mr. Samuel Ryan reported a nuisance in the rear of the McCafferty block. Referred to nuisance committee.

The President reported six families on Beaver street without either a light or boardwalk. No action taken.

Mr. Gross asked for the grade of Wall street so that parties living on that thoroughfare can put down pavements. Referred to Street committee.

Water committee reported ditch dug on East Howard street and a probability that the pipe would be laid this week. Also presented petition of Mr. Harry Ryan, fireman at the water works, for an increase in pay. Council voted him an increase of 25 cents per day.

Fire and Police committee reported that the Chief Burgess intended to make all persons arrested and fined, and who were unable to pay the latter, work same out on the streets; he desired to know where he could board men while so engaged. Council said inasmuch as the Chief Burgess received all fines he could make his own arrangements about boarding.

Nuisance committee reported article of agreement between the chairman and John F Potter for the use of his stable as a pond until Oct. 1. Agreement presented to council for their confirmation and acceptance. Passed.

By vote of council Mr. G. B. Weaver was appointed water examiner preparatory to the assessment.

A resolution was passed authorizing Finance committee to repair tables in council chamber.

After a little discussion relative to the poor fire protection on the higher places in Bellefonte, the reading of the treasurer's report and passage of innumerable bills, the council adjourned.

Pine Glenn Pickings

John Kline Esq., of Bellefonte, attended the sale of the late Capt. White, in Burnside township.

Any person making sale should have "ten cent Jimmy" there.

A number of our people are attending court.

Mrs. Elsey Watson moved out near Jacob Craft's.

Mr. Simon Walker will move in the house lately occupied by Mrs. Watson.

Mr. Martin Veighdorfer is busy skidding timber so as not to have it in danger of forest fires.

Mr, John Graham, from Iowa, visited his brother Arthur, of this place. He had not been here for about forty years.

Sammy Etters went to Sandy Ridge to work in the brick yard.

Miss Eva Etters expects to go to Mahaffey.

The Spruce Run Park Association has enclosed the city lands with a wire fence. If you attempt to go over to catch a fish or pick a berry "Ellis" is there to make you go back again.

Mr. Nelson Watson drove to Bellefonte last week.

Miss Myrtle Watson was home from Williamsport visiting her parents but has returned. Her sister, Miss Mattie, is visiting in Philipsburg.

Mr. Charley Smith and family, from Bellefonte, are visiting at this place.

Mrs. Oscar Holt was seriously ill a few days ago.

Mr. Isaac Midlam's are preparing material to build a new barn.

Doc. M. Stewart has purchased a beautiful span of horses.

Mr. B. Walker also has gotten himself a new team.

Now, Mr. Askey; the next time you drive a cow endeavor to keep her hoofs downward.

Miss Carrie Beates is much improved in health and thinks of attending school this summer.

Mrs. David Mulhollan was away visiting friends.

Ladies who live along the pike should have their tomatoe plants indoors at night, for Jack Frost is not at all partial.

Miss Lydia Gilliland, from Three Runs, is visiting at Joseph Yothers.

Mrs. D. C. Hillery—formerly a Miss Loy, of this place—died at her home in Wheeling, Ohio. Her remains were brought to Pine Glenn and interred in Askey's cemetery.

A Young Woman's Success.

One of the brightest women in New York, Mrs. Isabel Mallon, who, perhaps, knows more about woman's dress and fixings than any woman in America, has been added to the editorial staff of The Ladies' Home Journal, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Mallon is an experienced editorial writer, and will conduct one of the fullest and strongest fashion departments in the Journal ever attempted in a general magazine. Her new position makes her the best paid fashion-writer in the country. Mrs. Mallon is young, pretty, and one of the best-known women in New York society.

Personal Pencilings.

Mr. John P. Harris was in Tyrone on, Monday.

Mr. Henry Stevens, of Loveville, was in Bellefonte on Monday.

Mr. William Mills is serving his county as a juror this week.

Miss Mary Kane of Lock Haven, is the guest of the Misses Curry, on Logan street.

William Hicks, Esq., of Altoona, was in Bellefonte taking in the sights on Monday.

Mr. James Williams of Philipsburg spent Monday with his many friends in Bellefonte.

Mr. Elliott of the Bush House, after being absent for a week returned home Monday morning.

Mr. Edwin Tyson, of Philipsburg, a Republican candidate for treasurer, was in Bellefonte on Saturday, probably fixing up his fences.

Mr. W. W. Moyer, late of this place but now of Altoona, is now in Bellefonte. Mr. Moyer is as smiling and pleasant as ever.

Gen. D. H. Hastings and Gov. J. A. Beaver, after seeing the test of the new gas plant erected at the Nail Works, departed from Bellefonte on Thursday evening.

We are glad to see that Mr. W. P. Humes has sufficiently recovered from his recent severe attack of rheumatism to be able to again be out on the streets.

We have thus far neglected to record the presence, in town, of that prince of companionable young men, Mr. D. B Bell, who has been visible on the streets of Bellefonte for the past several days.

Mr. Thomas Donachy departed on Monday morning for Harrisburg where he went as a representative of Bellefonte Council No. 270, O. U. A. M. to attend the State Council which convenes there this morning, to continue in session two days.

Prof. A. Rehfeld, a teacher of French and German is in Bellefonte. He comes here for the purpose of getting up a class to instruct in these languages and comes well recommended. Any person who is desirous of studying the languages, would do well to consult Mr. Rehfeld, who will instruct either in a class or at their homes.

College, at Gettysburg; May 30, Dickinson, at Carlisle; May 31. University of Penna., at Philadelphia, June 2, Shortlidge Academy at Media; June 3, Bucknell, at Lewisburg, and Williamsport at Williamsport. State College claims to have a great team this year, and no doubt it has.

Letter List.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the post office at Bellefonte, Centre county, Pa., May 5, 1890.

Mrs. Jennie A. Burket, Miss Lottie Bush, Miss Stella Francis, Charles Wesley Harris, Mr, Robt. Jinkins, Mrs. A. Lafe, Mr. James McKinley, Aapect More, Mrs. Null, Miss Emma N. Owens, Mr. Frank N. Pratt, Miss Bell Pratt, Miss Jennie Reed, Maggie Stunbaugh, Mrs. Annie Swab, Philip Stephenson, Mrs. Sophia A. Yanders.

Persons enquiring for letters named in the above list will please say advertised. J. A. FIEDLER, P. M.

—The Weaver trial cost Centre county about eight hundred dollars. This amount includes the habeas corpus hearing and all expense save the keeping of prisoners in the county jail. That now makes an aggregate of about $6,000 spent for murder trials by Centre county inside of six months, and yet the people are only taxed 2½ mills—and this year it will be reduced to 2—there is a large balance in the treasury and everything is prosperous. All this can be accredited to the present efficient Republican board of Commissioners. Voter, consider carefully how you vote next fall.

Cupid Plays his Pranks.

Following are the marriage licenses issued in this county during the past week:

William Emenhizer, of Bellefonte, and Alice Dale of Houserville.

Harry Glossner, of Blanchard, and Della E. Stover, same place.

William B. Haines, of Rebersburg, and Lydia J. Ocker, same place.

McClellan Williams, of Port Matilda, and Annie G. Price, same place.

John D. Snyder, of Haines township, and Amelia J. Walker, of Hartley township, Union county.

—On Sunday morning Rev. J. A. Woodcock preached at Grace Methodist church, Williamsport. Many of Rev Woodcock's former parishoneers were present and after the sermon gave him a most hearty welcome to their midst again. Mr. Woodcock is now comfortably and permanently settled in Williamsport and will be glad to see his friends at No. 334 Campbell street.

TWO WELL-KNOWN MEN DIE.

H. D. VanPelt, Esq., of Centre Hall, and James B. Curtin, of Curtin's Works.

On Saturday evening at 5 o'clock H. D. VanPelt, of Centre Hall, died at his residence in that place of a complication of kidney diseases. Mr. VanPelt came home from Hastings, Cambria county less than three weeks ago and it is not over two weeks since he was confined to his bed.

There is not another man in the county of Centre that had more warm and steadfast friends, was better known and respected than just Mr. Van Pelt. Coming to this county from Tompkins county, New York, where he was born in the year 183-, he at once settled at Centre Hall and soon engaged in the manufacture of farm implements under the firm name of VanPelt, Shoop & Co., having associated himself with William Shoope and others. In this business Mr. VanPelt continued so long as the firm was engagad actively.

Lately Mr. VanPelt was associated with Gov. Beaver, General Hastings, and Colonel Spangler in the founding and upbuilding of the town of Hastings, Cambria county. It was in April, of 1888, that Mr. VanPelt went to the present site of the village of Hastings, and which was then all a wilderness, took his axe and cut down the trees and blocked out the town. He measured the streets and staked off the houses; in brief he was the active manager and the promoter of Hastings which is now, in only two years, a village about as large as Centre Hall.

In his boyhood days Mr. VanPelt was engaged on his father's farm near Slaterville, Tompkins county, N. Y., during the summer—spending his winters at school. Later he took an Academic course at Ithica and Groton, N. Y., and afterwards took a Commercial course at Cleveland. Just prior to his coming to this county he went on a trip down the Mississippi river with a government engineer corps.

Mr. VanPelt was married about 12 years ago to the sister of Col. Spangler—the only daughter of Ex-Sheriff Spangler. He now leaves a wife and two small children, a boy and a girl, to mourn their loss. Mr. Van Pelt has also many friends in Bellefonte, as well as all over the county, who will hear of his death with sincere regret: As a man he lived with the admiration of all and in his death his memory knows only respect and reverence. Mr. Van Pelt was a successful business man and leaves his wife and children a fair competency for their maintenance.

The funeral of Mr. VanPelt occured yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and took place from his late residence. Interment was made at Centre Hall.

JAMES B. CURTIN.

Monday morning at 5 o'clock James B. son of John Curtin, of this place, died at his home at Curtin's Works and was buried on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Curtin's cemetery. Mr. Curtin has been ailing for many years and about 3 years ago he became so bad that he was obliged to retire from active business and since that time his decline has been gradual but sure until that morning when the final spark of life was extinguished. Mr. Curtin has spent all his life, since his return from the army in the management of the business at Curtin's Work. He was much respected and beloved and in death he will be greatly missed by all who knew him and they were many.

—On Tuesday Huntingdon county school directors elected Prof. Samuel G. Rudy, of Orbisona, Superintendent of that county. Mr. Rudy is a native of Centre county, having been born at Pine Grove Mills. He is 35 years old and married, and has been engaged in teaching for the last fourteen years proving himself to be a most capable and efficient instructor.

—The West Chester Local News, on Tuesday published the roster of the Normal School at that place. Among the students we notice from this county the following: Annie and Maggie Beates of Pine Glenn, and Justia Hoy and Anna M. Macbride of Bellefonte.
